P
Univ
H

HARVARD COLLEGE

CLASS OF 1870

SECRETARY'S REPORT

NUMBER IX

MDCCCCX

P
Univ
H

HARVARD COLLEGE

CLASS OF 1870

Secretary's Report

NUMBER IX

1910

348630
4. 4. 38.

CAMBRIDGE
Printed at the Riverside Press
1911

CLASS COMMITTEE

AMORY APPLETON LAWRENCE

WILLIAM WARREN VAUGHAN

CHARLES HERBERT SWAN

SECRETARY

THOMAS BALDWIN TICKNOR

18 Highland Street, Cambridge, Mass.

CONTENTS

COMMITTEE'S PREFACE 5

FINANCIAL STATEMENT 9

LIST OF GRADUATES 13

LIST OF TEMPORARY MEMBERS 15

RECORDS OF THE CLASS 17

DEATHS 85

ADDRESSES 87

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2008 with funding from Microsoft Corporation

http://www.archive.org/details/n09reportclass1870harvuoft

COMMITTEE'S PREFACE

THE prolonged and at one time alarming illness of the Secretary has delayed the issue of the Class Report. Everybody will rejoice with the Committee that the crisis seems to have been safely passed, and that the Secretary will soon be able to resume his work.

In the period between the Report for 1900 and that for 1905 there were nine deaths. In the period between 1905 and Commencement Day, 1910, Chamberlin, Fitz, Francis, Kidder, Nye, Sargent, and Woodard were taken. Since Commencement, Chapin, Jordan, Rich, Rodman, and Worcester have died; bringing the number of living members to 86. Chapin's heart had troubled him for a number of years; Jordan, Rich, and Rodman had all been invalids for a considerable time; Worcester, whom we all remember as a type of perfect health, died suddenly. Rich went on the class automobile trip, and came to the dinner, and enjoyed them both. He said afterwards that, although the fatigue was considerable, the whole thing had been a great pleasure to him.

Of the Temporary Members of the class, Badger has died since the last Report.

When it came time to plan something for the fortieth anniversary, the Committee found that the expense of a suitable celebration, and the printing of a class report, would simply paralyze the Class fund. The Committee therefore stated the situation as pleasantly as they could to their fellow sufferers, and modestly suggested what they thought would be appropriate under the circumstances. The response was very satisfactory, and several fellows volunteered to double their contributions if the Committee asked them to. No second call was necessary, however, and the Committee, after paying the principal bills, felt able to make a contribution to the Alumni Association. The money collected was used as appears by the supplementary financial statement.

Heretofore in printing class reports it has been customary to carry along from one to another the notices of deceased classmates. As these notices have now grown to be a considerable part of the Report, it was thought best by the Committee not to repeat them, but simply to refer to those which have already appeared. The same idea has been followed with regard to lists of publications, etc., which have been printed in former reports. They are referred to as already published.

An approximately uniform system is now being adopted by all class secretaries, and it is no longer the custom to publish such facts as the engagements and marriages of the children of members of the Class.

The celebration of the fortieth anniversary was carried out substantially as planned. Some thirty of us assembled at the University Club, Tuesday morning (June 27) at ten o'clock. From the Club we took automobiles and (practically following a route laid out by Laurence Curtis) went out over the Harvard Bridge to get a look at the Charles River Basin and the Esplanade, then back to Boylston Street, and out over Huntington Avenue, some of us stopping for a short view of the Harvard Medical School while Rotch acted as guide; then over the Cottage Farms Bridge to Cambridge, where we stopped at the Germanic Museum, and again at the Agassiz Museum, where Deane told us what to look at. Then we went over the Fresh Pond Boulevard, down by the Stillman Infirmary, and across the river to the Country Club at Brookline.

The weather was ideal for such a trip; there had been a shower in the morning, and there was no dust. Buckminster, Lawrence, and Parrish helped along the good cause by bringing their own cars. Parrish had driven up from his hermitage at Southampton, bringing Lunt. We had a very good lunch at the Country Club, and stayed through the early part of the afternoon. There were a number of younger classes there, and we saw them play ball and do other things which we could have done if we had wanted to, but we did not want to.

Tuesday evening we dined at the University Club. Present: Brooks Adams, Alexander, Buckminster, Bunton, Burnham, Chapin, Cole, Laurence Curtis, Cutler, Deane, Dixwell, Drew, Dwight, Fuller, Hale, Kettell, Lawrence, Lincoln, Littlefield, Lunt, Monroe, Morse, Nourse, Parkman, Parrish, Rich, Rotch, Scudder, Sidney Smith, Walter Smith, Spaulding, Swan, Taft, Tuckerman, Viaux, Watson, Wilby, Willis, Farrington, and McCandless.

Fernald, Sheldon, Pendleton, Soley, Wadsworth, and Wharton said they would come, but did not. If they were familiar with the parable of the two sons and the vineyard, they would know that even the brother who said that he would not go, but subsequently went, was more highly esteemed than he who agreed to go, but did not show up. They will never know what they missed.

Willis presided, and read some appropriate verses. Norcross sent flowers for the table. The Schubert Quartette sang at intervals throughout the dinner. Dixwell, who has a habit of collecting pretty pebbles, gave one, polished and ready for mounting, to each man present. The dinner was informal as usual. It was voted that the Class Committee should send the absent Secretary something to remind him that we appreciated him and his services. Later the Committee sent him a Sheffield-plate salver marked, "Thomas Baldwin Ticknor from the Harvard Class of 1870, June 28, 1910."

There were thirty-two at Cambridge, Commencement Day. We had luncheon in our own room, and the Committee were able to furnish tickets to everybody who wanted to go to the afternoon exercises in Memorial Hall.

The general impression seemed to be that the celebration of our fortieth anniversary was a success.

December, 1910.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Dr. THOMAS B. TICKNOR, SECRETARY,

1905
June 1	Balance on hand		$3304.36
1906
June 1	Interest on investments for year	$139.00
	Sale of plates of old Report	3.56	142.56
1907
June 1	Interest on investments for year	133.00	133.00
1908
June 1	Interest on investments for year	132.00
	Sale of rights, American Telephone & Telegraph Company	1.48	133.48
1909
June 1	Interest on investments for year	132.00	132.00
1910
June 1	Interest on investments for year	132.00	132.00
			$3977.40

SUPPLEMENTARY FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Collected by subscription (March-June, 1910)		$1122.60
Interest allowed on balance		3.82
		$1126.42
Charges for collection on southern and western checks		.40
		$1126.02
Printing, advertising, postage, etc	$48.71
Automobiles	127.00
Lunch at Country Club	107.20
Dinner *	316.54
Music	25.00
Lunch, etc., Commencement Day	100.95
Contribution to Alumni Association, Oct. 21	50.00	775.40
On hand for printing Class Report		$350.62

* The present to the Secretary is craftily concealed in the payment for the dinner.

IN ACCOUNT WITH THE CLASS OF 1870 Cr.

1906
June 1	Commencement expenses for 1905.....	$79.81
	Printing and mailing Class Report....	294.87
	Class Dinner 1900.....	341.72
	Advertising.....	13.75
	Printing circulars and mailing.....	6.93
	Postage.....	2.49
	Keys to '70 Gate.....	1.50
	Alumni Association.....	10.00	$751.07
1907
June 1	Commencement expenses for 1906.....	60.35
	Advertising.....	4.50
	Class Secretaries' Association.....	5.00	69.85
1908
June 1	Commencement expenses for 1907.....	68.00
	Advertising.....	4.50
	Postage.....	1.21
	Alumni Association.....	50.00
	Class Secretaries' Association.....	1.00	124.71
1909
June 1	Commencement expenses for 1908.....	53.43
	Advertising.....	6.50
	Printing Circulars.....	33.12
	Mailing and postage.....	4.53	97.58
1910
June 1	Commencement expenses for 1909.....	54.65
	Advertising.....	7.51
	Class Secretaries' Association.....	3.00
	Printing Circulars.....	4.74
	Postage.....	.73	70.63
			$1113.84
	Balance forward.....		2863.56
			$3977.40

The Balance ($2863.56) on above condensed statement includes one Kansas City, Fort Scott & Memphis Consolidated Mortgage Bond ($1000), one Fitchburg R. R. 4% Bond ($1000), 4 shares American Telephone & Telegraph Company ($539) and cash on hand and in bank ($324.56).

CLASS OF 1870

[The names of those who have died are marked with an asterisk.]

Adams, Brooks, Memb. Mass. Hist. Soc.

*Adams, George Huntington. *1900.

Adams, Walter.

Alexander, William Pomeroy.

*Ames, Angier. *1901.

*Andrews, Henry Chandler, LL. B., Columbia, 1873. *1897.

*Brown, Samuel Emmons, Rochester Theol. Sem. (N. Y.) 1873; Acting Prof. New Test. Exegesis Rochester Theol. Sem. *1877.

Buckminster, William Bradley.

Bunton, George Wadley.

Burnham, Arthur.

*Chamberlin, William Wigglesworth. *1910.

*Chapin, Frederick Wilcox, M. D., Columbia (Coll. Phys. and Surg.), 1873. *1910.

Chapman, Nelson Charles.

Clapp, Henry Lincoln.

Coes, Zorester Bennett.

Cole, John Hanun, LL. B., 1872.

*Crosby, William Sage, M. D., 1874. *1875.

Curtis, Laurence.

Curtis, Louis.

Curtis, Rest Fenner.

*Cushing, Louis Thomas, LL. B., Boston Univ., 1875. *1904.

Cutler, Arthur Hamilton, Ph. D. (Hon.), Coll. N. J., 1885.

*Davis, Francis DuPont. *1879.

Deane, Walter.

*Dexter, S. Newton. *1899.

Dixon, Alexander James Dallas.

Dixwell, John, M. D., 1873.

Dodge, William Walter, LL. B., 1873.

Drew, Charles Acton, LL. B., Boston Univ., 1873.

Dudley, Edward.

Dwight, John Francis.

Emott, Charles Crooke, LL. B., Columbia, 1872.

*Evans, Andrew Otis, LL. B., Boston Univ., 1873. *1879.

Fernald, Benjamin Marvin.

Fisher, George Harrison.

*Fitz, Andrew. *1908.

*Francis, Laurens Norris. *1910.

Frothingham, Theodore.

Fuller, Frederick Timothy.

*Galloway, James Buchanan. *1904.

Gannett, Thomas Brattle, 1897.

*Godon, Frederic William, M. D. Bellevue Hosp. Med. Coll. (N. Y.), 1872. *1876.

*Greene, Samuel Fay. *1877.

Greener, Richard Theodore, LL. B., Univ. S. C., 1876; LL. D., Monrovia (Liberia), 1882; Prof. Ment. and Mor. Philos. and Logic, Librarian, Univ. S. C.; Dean Law Dept. Howard Univ. (D. C.).

Groesbeck, Herman John, L. R. C. S. (Edinb.), 1875.
Hale, William Gardner, LL. D., Union, 1895, Princeton, 1896; Tutor; Prof. Latin Lang. and Lit., Cornell Univ.; Head Prof. Latin Lang. and Lit., Univ. Chicago; Director Am. S.
*Healy, Joseph, LL. B., 1873. *1880.
Hill, John Edwin.
*Hinckley, Thomas Leslie. *1875.
Hoar, Charles Emerson.
Holmes, Artemas Henry.
Holway, Raymond Fletcher, S. T. B., Boston Univ., 1873.
*Horton, Henry Kenney. *1887.
Hosea, William Going, LL. B., Cincinnati (O.), 1872.
*Huntington, Arthur Lord, LL. B., 1874. *1902.
Huntress, Leonard, M. D., Columbia (Coll. Phys. and Surg.), 1874.
*Jordan, James Clark, 1871. *1910.
Kettell, Charles Willard, S. B., 1873.
*Kidder, Frederic. *1908.
Ladd, Babson Savilian.
Lawrence, Amory Appleton.
Lincoln, Waldo, Memb. Mass. Hist. Soc.
Littlefield, George Sherman.
*Loring, Fred Wadsworth. *1871.
*Low, Ethelbert Mills. *1881.
*Lowell, Perceval. *1887.
Lunt, Horace Gray.
*McCall, Harry Wilcocks. *1894.
McMichael, Charles Barnsley.
Mann, Benjamin Pickman.
*Merrick, William. *1887.
*Mitchell, Charles Lucius. *1898.
Monroe, Charles.
Morison, Ernest Nathaniel.
Morse, Godfrey, LL. B., 1872; A. M. (Hon.), Tufts, 1900.
Norcross, Otis, LL. B., 1873.
Nourse, Franklin.
*Nye, Charles Freeman. *1905.
Parkman, Henry, A. M., 1874; LL. B., 1873.
Parrish, Samuel Longstreth.
Parsons, Theophilus.
Pearson, George.
Peele, Willard Silsbee, 1892.
Pendleton, Frank Key, LL. B., 1875.
*Perkins, James Handasyd, LL. B., Cincinnati (O.), 1872. *1889.
Perrin, Willard Taylor, S. T. B., Boston Univ., 1874; Ph. D., Boston Univ., 1898.
Rawson, Edward.
*Rich, James Rogers, 1872. *1910.
Robinson, Frank Walcott.
Robinson, Otis Granville.
*Rodman, Alfred, LL. B., Boston Univ., 1879. *1910.
Rotch, Thomas Morgan, M. D., 1874; Instr., Asst. Prof., and Prof. Diseases of Children; Prof. Pediatrics.
Sanger, John White.
*Sargent, Joseph. *1910.
*Sargent, Lucius Manlius, LL. B., 1875. *1893.
Scudder, Winthrop Saltonstall.
Seavey, Oscar Fitz.
Sheldon, Chauncey Cooley, M. D., 1877.
Shepard, Walter, S. B., Mass. Inst. Tech., 1873.
*Sherman, Barker Baker, Andover Theol. Sem., 1877. *1904.
Smith, Sandford Sidney, LL. B., Columbia, 1872.
Smith, Walter Bugbee.
Soley, James Russell, LL. B., Columbian (D. C.), 1890; Asst. Prof. and Prof. Eng., Hist. and Law U. S. Naval Acad.

*Soule, Richard Herman, S. B., Mass. Inst. Tech., 1872. *1908.

Spackman, William Master.

*Spalding, Charles Parker, M. D., 1877. *1895.

Spaulding, Henry Kittredge, LL. B., Columbia, 1875.

Stone, Richard Henry, LL. B., Cincinnati (O.), 1872.

*Swaim, Roger Williams. *1872.

Swan, Charles Herbert.

Taft, Stephen Swift.

*Thayer, Stephen Van Rensselaer. *1871.

Ticknor, Thomas Baldwin.

Tuckerman, Alfred, Ph. D., Leipsic, 1874.

Vaughan, William Warren, LL. B., 1873; A. M., 1874.

Viaux, Frederic Henry.

Wadsworth, William Austin.

Wait, Lucien Augustus, Asst. Prof., Assoc. Prof., and Prof. Math. Cornell Univ.

*Walcott, Charles Hosmer. *1901.

Watson,Benjamin Marston, Instr. Horticulture.

Wells, Henry.

*Weston, Melville Moore, LL. B., 1872. *1901.

Wharton, William Fisher, LL. B., 1873.

White, John Stuart, LL. D., Trinity (Conn.), 1879.

Wilby, Charles Bowditch, LL. B., Cincinnati (O.), 1872.

Willis, Grinnell.

*Winsor, Walter Thaxter. *1905.

*Wolcott, Roger, LL. B., 1874; LL. D., Williams, 1897; Tutor; Overseer; Memb. Mass. Hist. Soc.; Acting Gov. and Gov. Mass. *1900.

*Woodard, Charles Fuller, LL. B., 1872. *1907.

*Worcester, Francis Jesse, LL. B., Columbia, 1875. *1910.

Wyatt, James Bosley Noel.

*45 + 86 = 131

TEMPORARY MEMBERS

*Badger, George Ashton. *1907.

*Barrett, Joseph. *1867.

*Chapin, George Gilman. *1873.

Darlington, Ellwood Harvey.

*Eaton, Elbridge Miner. *1895.

Farrington, Willis.

*Hodges, Benjamin. *1897.

Learned, Francis Mason.

McCandless, Gardiner Felch.

McLean, John Robert.

McManus, James.

*Mason, Joseph Parker. *1900.

Newhall, Harry Frank.

*Packer, William Fisher. *1872.

*Thompson, Christopher A.*1867.

Washburn, Edward Davis.

Wilds, Judson Boardman.

*8 + 9 = 17

RECORDS OF THE CLASS 1870–1910

RECORDS OF THE CLASS 1870–1910

BROOKS ADAMS, son of Charles Francis Adams, was born in 1848. After graduation studied law (one year at the Harvard Law School), and was admitted to the bar April 10, 1873. Is the author of "The Emancipation of Massachusetts," "The Law of Civilization and Decay," translated into French and German; "American Economic Supremacy" (1900), translated into German; "The New Empire" (1902), translated into German and Russian; besides these "The Gold Standard" in pamphlet form (1894), and numerous articles and addresses, among them lectures before the Naval War College in 1903. Has written two chapters in "Centralization and the Law; Railroads as Public Agents"; and is bringing out a revised edition of "Civilization and Decay." Was married to Evelyn Davis, September 7, 1889. Residence, Quincy. Address: 84 State Street, Boston.

GEORGE HUNTINGTON ADAMS, died April 7, 1900. A sketch of Adams's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

WALTER ADAMS, son of Colman Searle and Mary Elizabeth (Winchester) Adams, was born in Portland, Me., May 15, 1848. Prepared for college at the Framingham, Mass., Academy. Began the study of law in July, 1870, in the office of his father (C. S. Adams), Framingham, Mass.; in October, 1872, entered the office of H. W. Paine & R. D. Smith, Boston; at present is practising in Framingham. Represented the 28th Middlesex District in the General Courts of 1894 and 1896. Was married, May 25, 1885, at West River, Md., to Constance Winchester, daughter of the late Rev. Thomas Weld Winchester, of the Episcopal Church.

WILLIAM POMEROY ALEXANDER, son of Henry and Amelia Peabody (Bowles) Alexander, was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., August 29, 1848. Prepared for college at the Phillips

Exeter Academy. Soon after graduation went abroad, and in November, 1870, matriculated at the University of Berlin and attended lectures in the philosophy and history courses through two semesters. After two years of study and European travel, returned to Springfield, Mass., where he was associated with his father in the banking business; in 1872 was appointed Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue for the 10th Massachusetts District, holding that office from 1872 to 1884; during the years 1876–78 was aide-de-camp on the staff of Governor Alexander H. Rice of Massachusetts, with rank of colonel. On January 3, 1877, was married to Elizabeth F. D. Stebbins of Springfield, Mass., and has had four children, all living. They are Anne E. Alexander, born September 3, 1877; Wm. Henry Alexander, born February 19, 1879; Julia Standish Alexander, born November 2, 1881; and Pauline Gladys Alexander, born December 12, 1890. In 1887 he moved to New York City and was identified with the American Exchange in Europe at the New York office, until it discontinued business in 1889; from 1889 to 1892 was with Keane & Co., bankers, New York and Chicago, and since that connection has been with houses of like character, or in a similar business on his own account. Since 1905 has been connected with "The Credit Office," a Mercantile Reporting Agency at 346 Broadway, N. Y. Residence, 976 Anderson Avenue, New York, N. Y.

*ANGIER AMES died April 11, 1901. A sketch of Ames's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

*HENRY CHANDLER ANDREWS died August 20, 1897. A sketch of Andrews's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

*SAMUEL EMMONS BROWN died August 5, 1877. A sketch of Brown's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

WILLIAM BRADLEY BUCKMINSTER, son of William John and Eliza (Eaton) Buckminster, was born in Boston, September 9, 1847. His father was a member of the Class of 1835. He was prepared for college in the Malden High School. Upon graduation entered the office of Charles W. Dabney & Co., commission merchants; after a year took charge of the Boston office of E.

Murdock, Jr.; in 1874 became connected with the house of Isaac Rich & Co., 33 Mason Building, Boston, remaining with them a number of years; in 1884 became treasurer and manager of the Napa Consolidated Quicksilver Mining Company of California, and is now vice-president of same, also vice-president and general manager of the New Idria Quicksilver Mining Co., director and vice-president of the Geo. P. Cox Last Company, director of Malden Trust Company, director of Huron Milling Co., Michigan; chairman Malden Water Board, 1892 to 1898; chairman Joint Water Boards of Malden, Medford, and Melrose, 1893 to 1898; member of Malden Common Council, 1886–87; trustee Forest Dale Cemetery since 1892; was married September 14, 1870, to Christine Isabella Chase of Leominster, Mass. On January 17, 1872, William Read Buckminster, on June 23, 1874, Harold Chase Buckminster, and on December 5, 1880, Morey Willard Buckminster were born; on January 31, 1898, Morey died; and on June 8, 1886, Roy Buckminster was born; on April 23, 1893, Roy died. Residence, 41 Dexter Street, Malden, Mass. Business address, 919 and 920 Oliver Building, 141 Milk St., Boston. Is a member of Kernwood Club, Malden, and Eastern Yacht Club and Tedesco Country Club.

GEORGE WADLEY BUNTON, son of David Augustus and Eliza Jane (Adams) Bunton, was born in Manchester, N. H., September 29, 1850. He prepared for college at the Manchester High School and under Professor E. W. Gurney. In April, 1872, entered the employ of Taylor, Thomas & Co., importers and jobbers of dry goods, with whom he remained until December 31, 1897, when the firm was dissolved. He then became associated with the corporation of Curtis Davis & Co., soap manufacturers, as secretary, and with their successors, Lever Brothers, Limited, Boston works. Severed his connection with Lever Brothers in May, 1902, and since December, 1904, has been with the Harvard Coöperative Society, Cambridge, also conducting an auditing business. In September, 1905, was elected assistant treasurer and assistant secretary of the New River Company, owners of coal mines in West Virginia, and still occupies that position, with office at Room 709, Shawmut Bank Building, Boston. Is a member of the Newtowne Club. Was married December 18, 1877, to Ellena S. Brown. George Herbert Bunton was born September 26, 1878; Sumner Augustus was born February 9, 1884, died February 14, 1884; Florence Elena was born February 14, 1885; Lillian Gertrude was born September 10, 1889. Present address is 63 Washington Avenue, North Cambridge.

ARTHUR BURNHAM, son of Dyer Noble and Sylvia Ellis (Fifield) Burnham, was born April 27, 1847, in Sackett's Harbor, N. Y. Was prepared for college at the Chicago High School and the Waltham, Mass., New Church School. Entered the banking business July 1, 1870, with Blake Bros. of New York, and was with the same house in Boston from February 22, 1872, until April 24, 1886. Was president of the National City Bank of Boston from October 22, 1886, until January 1, 1889; was president of the Pueblo Smelting and Refining Company during 1889. Since then in business as broker and corporation officer, now at Room 84, Fiske Building, 89 State Street, Boston. As president of the American Art Association of Massachusetts, is now engaged in securing an Art Studio and Exhibition Building for that society; also as chairman of the Fine Arts Group of the "Boston, 1915" movement, is helping to arrange for annual exhibitions leading up to the 1915 exhibition. Was married September 30, 1875, to Katherine Davenport Bray of Boston. Roger Noble Burnham was born August 10, 1876; Margaret Ward Burnham was born January 21, 1881; Helena Burnham was born November 22, 1884; Arthur Stanton Burnham was born March 24, 1888.

WILLIAM WIGGLESWORTH CHAMBERLIN, son of Henry Harmon and Charlotte Ramsay (Clarke) Chamberlin, was born in Worcester, Mass., July 25, 1850. He prepared for college under private tutors. After graduation was connected with H. H. Chamberlin & Co., wool dealers and manufacturers, Worcester, Mass.; was admitted into the firm January 1, 1872. On June 12, 1872, was married to Elizabeth Furguson Paine of Worcester; and on August 6, 1873, Henry Harmon Chamberlin, Jr., was born. In February, 1880, a comedy entitled "Midsummer Madness," by Chamberlin and Sullivan (T. R.), was successfully produced at the Boston Museum. During the later years of his life Chamberlin did newspaper and other literary work, and lived abroad a considerable portion of the time. He died in London, England, February 6, 1910.

FREDERICK WILCOX CHAPIN, son of Abijah White and Sarah Merriam (Wilcox) Chapin, was born in Middletown, Conn., November 17, 1849. Prepared for college at Phillips Exeter Academy. From August, 1870, until February 27, 1873, studied medicine at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, and in the office of Dr. Willard Parker in New York, receiving the degree of M. D. at the above college; for two years was on the house staff of Bellevue Hospital, New York City. On April 1, 1879, was appointed assistant medical director of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company of Springfield, and in February, 1885, was appointed chief medical director of said company; April 23, 1902, was elected a director of the company; April 3, 1879, was appointed one of the board of examining surgeons for pensions, and July 1, 1879, one of the visiting surgeons to the Springfield Hospital. Was a member of the Massachusetts Medical Society, the Hampden District Medical Society, and the Springfield Medical Club; was appointed trustee of the Northampton Insane Hospital (now called the Northampton State Hospital) by Governor Wolcott January 25, 1899. Was a trustee of the Wesson Maternity Hospital. On June 18, 1878, was married to Caroline Minna Cole of Cambridge, Mass. (Mrs. Chapin died of pneumonia January 10, 1909. Her death was a terrible blow and undoubtedly shortened Chapin's life.) Laurence Dudley Chapin was born November 19, 1880; Leslie Chapin, October 10, 1881; Eleanor Chapin, October 3, 1885.

After his service in Bellevue Hospital, Chapin returned to Springfield and entered upon what the Springfield "Republican," in an appreciative obituary notice, aptly described as "the great work of his life, that of a general practitioner, the tried and trusted family physician." He attained high rank in his profession and was generally regarded as the leading physician in Springfield and the surrounding region.

For a number of years Chapin had had trouble with his heart, and in 1898 he was obliged to give up work for several months, during which he made a Southern trip. In 1906 he suffered another serious attack, but later he enjoyed his usual health, and he visited patients on the night before his death. Early in the morning of December 15, 1910, the final attack came, and although he had immediate medical attendance, he died within thirty-five minutes.

NELSON CHARLES CHAPMAN, son of Nelson Clark Chapman and Elizabeth A. Gilbert of Gilbertsville, N. Y., was born November 3, 1850, at Oxford, Chenango County, New York. The family moved to St. Louis in 1857, since which time that city has been their place of residence. Here Mr. Chapman was prepared for Harvard in the Academic Department of Washington University. After he was graduated at Harvard, he was matriculated at the University of Heidelberg, Germany, but did not finish the full term there. On his return from Europe he took up a business career, becoming successively assistant treasurer, treasurer, and vice-president of the Eau Claire Lumber Company of Eau Claire, Wis., of which company his father was the founder. After the liquidation of this company, he became president of the Eau Claire-St. Louis Lumber Company, its successor in the business; also president of the Monroe Lumber Company of Monroe, La., the Tennessee Central Railroad, the Brier Hill and the Fall Creek Collieries of Tennessee. On October 21, 1879, he married Mary Bridge of St. Louis. A daughter, Florence, was born in 1884, and a son, Gilbert, in 1886. Address, Chemical Building, St. Louis, Mo.

HENRY LINCOLN CLAPP, son of Franklin Bailey and Clara (Powers) Clapp, was born in Scituate, Mass., January 1, 1839. He prepared for college at Phillips Exeter Academy, entering college in the Sophomore year. In September, 1870, opened a private classical school in Hartford, Conn.; for four years, beginning April, 1871, had charge of the Mather School, a branch of the Lawrence School, South Boston; 1875, on application, transferred to the Lincoln School, South Boston; 1876, on application, transferred to the Dudley School, Roxbury; 1882, elected principal of the George Putnam School, Egleston Square, Roxbury District, Boston. Especially interested in science work for common schools, music, and art. Has had several pictures admitted to the exhibitions of the Boston Art Club. In 1899 spent five months in Holland, France, Switzerland, and Germany. A list of Clapp's principal essays, and literary and musical publications appeared in the Class Report for 1905. Is a member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society; chairman School Garden and Children's Herbarium Committee of Massachusetts Horticultural Society from 1894 to 1904; chairman of Committee to lay out the study of English in the elementary schools of Boston, 1906. Was married July 9, 1874, to Florence S. Greeley of South Boston. Philip Greeley Clapp was born August 4, 1888; A. B. Harvard magna cum laude, 1908; A. M. magna cum laude, 1909. Among other prizes Philip Clapp received was that established by Merrick of '70. Clapp lives at 135 Porter Street, Melrose.

ZORESTER BENNETT COES, son of William Seth Leonard and Lydia Lee (Bennett) Coes, was born at Chelsea, Mass., April 6, 1847. Was prepared for college at the Chelsea High School. After graduation was engaged for two years in railroad work in the South and West. In 1872–74 was employed on surveying and water-work at Woburn, Mass. Since that time has been engaged principally with machine-tool firms in New England and the Central West. Became a member of American Society of Mechanical Engineers, August, 1881. From 1884 to 1896 was with the Niles Tool Works Company, Hamilton, Ohio. From 1896 to 1906, was in the machinery commission business, Bourse, Philadelphia. From 1906 to date has been a mechanical engineer, with Edwin Harrington Son & Co., Philadelphia. Was married February 22, 1882, at Cranston, R. I., to Alice Miller of that place. Harold Vinton Coes was born at Hyde Park, Mass., June 21, 1883; graduated at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 1906. Elizabeth Alden Coes was born May 3, 1886, at Hamilton, O. Present address, 64 Harvey Street, Germantown, Philadelphia, Pa.

JOHN HANUN COLE, son of H. Wilbur and Abbie Brown (Shaw) Cole, was born at Providence, R. I., July 23, 1848. He was prepared for college by Professor Charles D'Urban Morris. After graduation, he studied in the Harvard Law School; received the degree of LL. B. in 1872, after which he took a post-graduate course until March, 1873; from March to October, 1871, travelled in Europe and the East; was admitted to the bar in Boston in December, 1873, and in New York in October, 1874, having entered the offices of Gray & Davenport of the latter city in the spring of 1873; on January 1, 1877, became a member of the firm; in 1879 was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court of the United States; withdrew from the firm of Gray & Davenport in October, 1880, and has ever since practised independently. Is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, and for five years ending January, 1900, was a member of the Committee on Admissions of that association, the third and fourth years serving as secretary, and the fifth year as chairman of the committee; was also a member and secretary of the Executive Committee of that association for three years ending January, 1903, and was chairman of the House Committee during the same period. Was secretary of the Church Club of New York for six years ending April, 1898, and president of that club for two years ending April, 1900. Is a member of the Century Association, the University Club, the Harvard Club, and the New York Yacht Club, and is now a member of the Library Committee of the latter. Is a trustee of the Society of St. Johnland, chairman of the Committee on Trust Funds, and counsel to that corporation; and is also a trustee of other charitable corporations. Was married September 26, 1877, to Lucy May Smith of New York. Lucy May Cole was born December 31, 1881. Mrs. Cole died January 24, 1882. Was married June 11, 1885, at Oxford, England, to Josephine McIlvaine Hewson. Office, 35 Wall Street. Residence, 6 East 10th Street, New York.

*WILLIAM SAGE CROSBY died April 6, 1875. A sketch of Crosby's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

LAURENCE CURTIS, twin brother of classmate Louis Curtis, and son of Thomas Buckminster and Laura (Greenough) Curtis, was born in Boston, Mass., March 2, 1849. Attended schools in Boston, and later, three years, 1859–62, at Sillig's School in Vevey, Switzerland. Then three years at the Lycée Impérial in Rouen, France; then two years under private tutors in Paris and Germany. Entered College as Fresh Sophomore in 1867. Went abroad in 1869 and 1870; passed the year of 1870–71 with his family in Versailles. Witnessed many scenes of the Franco-Prussian war, the sieges of Paris by the Germans and, later, during the Commune. Returned to Boston in 1871, and served as clerk for two years in the office of Messrs. Lee, Higginson & Co. In 1874 joined the Boston Stock Exchange and opened an office as stock- and note-broker. In 1879 formed a partnership with

C. C. Jackson ('63) and F. Jackson ('71) under the firm name of Jackson & Curtis, stock-brokers, and is still a member of the present firm of that name, but retired in 1899 from active participation in its business. Travelled in Europe in 1883, 1887, 1888, 1890, 1899, 1903. In 1892 was instrumental in popularizing the game of golf in America. Started the United States Golf Association in 1894. Served as its first vice-president for two years, and then as president. Published a magazine article, "The Rise of Golf in New England," in "Golfing," N. Y., September, 1895. Is a member of the following clubs: Somerset, University, Nahant, the Country Club, Toby Club, and an honorary life member of the St. Andrew's Golf Club of Yonkers, N. Y. Unmarried. Address, 197 Marlborough Street, Boston, Mass., and in summer at Nahant, Mass.

LOUIS CURTIS, twin brother of Laurence Curtis, same class, and son of Thomas Buckminster and Laura (Greenough) Curtis, was born in Boston, Mass., March 2, 1849. Attended schools in Boston, in Vevey, Switzerland (1859–62), at the Lycée Impérial, Rouen, France (1862–65), and fitted for college with private tutors in Paris, entering the Class at the beginning of Sophomore year. After graduation spent the summer of 1870 in Europe. In November of the same year entered the Boston house of Brown Brothers & Co., bankers, succeeding in 1878 his brother Daniel Sargent Curtis (H. U. 1846) in the management of the house, which he has carried on to the present time, and with which is his address at 60 State Street, Boston. Has made frequent trips to Europe for recreation. Was married in October, 1890, to Fanny Leland Richardson, and has children, Louis Curtis, Jr., born August 6, 1891, and Laurence Curtis, 2d, born September 3, 1893.

REST FENNER CURTIS, son of Thomas Fenner and Annie (Fenner) Curtis, was born in Marion, Ala., November 24, 1850. He prepared for college at the Boston Latin School, the University of Lewisburg, Pa., and under a private tutor. Has been engaged in teaching, since graduation, at East Weymouth, Mass., Newport, R. I., Framingham, Mass., and Boston; in 1882 became one of the teachers in Chauncy Hall School; in 1884 was the head of the mathematical department. In 1891 became associate principal, while retaining his position in the mathematical department. In 1896 associated himself with the Hale School, Boston, and in 1897 became its principal; in 1904 became vice-president of the New England College of Languages, 162 Boylston Street, Boston; allied with this is the Steinert Hall Preparatory School, in which he manages the mathematical department. He has been somewhat actively interested in the Appalachian Mountain Club, since its formation, and is now its vice-president; he has done some high climbing in the snow fields and glaciers of the Rocky Mountains in British Columbia. He has published some articles descriptive of this work. Is a member of the American Alpine Club, and has been for many years corresponding secretary of the Massachusetts Classical and High School Teachers' Association. Address, 25 Kinross Road, Boulevard Station, Boston, Mass.

*LOUIS THOMAS CUSHING died April 7, 1904. A sketch of Cushing's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

ARTHUR HAMILTON CUTLER, son of Elihu and Rebecca (Temple) Cutler, was born in Holliston, Mass., January 26, 1849. He prepared for college at the local high school and under private tutors. After graduation, and until the autumn of 1873, was with Walter Brown & Son, wool commission merchants, New York; since then has been engaged in teaching in the same city. In the autumn of 1873 he organized the Cutler School for boys, and still remains its principal. Four hundred and fifty-two graduates of this school have entered college or schools of science, and one hundred and forty of these have entered Harvard. In 1885 he received the honorary degree of Ph. D. from Princeton. In 1893 he was secretary of the National Conference on Mathematics which met at Harvard at the request of the Committee of Ten; in 1896 he was secretary of the Conference on Mathematics which met at Columbia. Is a member of the Century, University, and Harvard clubs in New York City, the Headmasters' Association of the United States, and several other associations of teachers. In 1897 he was president of the Schoolmasters' Association of New York. August 2, 1890, he married Mrs. Elizabeth Jones (Wilson). Has one son, Frederick Holland Wilson-Cutler. Address, 20 East 50th Street New York City.

*FRANK DUPONT DAVIS died in June, 1879. A sketch of Davis's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

WALTER DEANE, son of Charles and Helen (Waterston) Deane, was born in Boston, Mass., April 23, 1848. He prepared for college at the Cambridge High School.

Deane told us in the Report for 1905, how his interest in botany was aroused in 1880; and how absorbing he had found the study. Since December, 1908, he has been president of the New England Botanical Club. A list of his principal publications is printed in the Report for 1905.

Deane was associated with Mr. William Brewster of Cambridge, in his ornithological museum, as assistant in charge of the large collection of birds and books, from October, 1897, to January, 1908, and is an active member of the Nuttall Ornithological Club, and a member of the American Ornithological Union.

Deane writes: "For the past two years I have been living at home, engaged in the many delights that a college education and an intense love of nature have aroused in me. The interest in my clubs is absorbing, and this, in connection with the care of my herbarium, makes the days far too short. Still, each one is a joy, and we boys of 1870 are still young, and will ever be so in heart at least." Present address, 29 Brewster Street, Cambridge, Mass."

*S. NEWTON DEXTER died February 21, 1899. A sketch of Dexter's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

ALEXANDER JAMES DALLAS DIXON, son of Fitz-Eugene and Catherine (Dallas) Dixon, was born in Philadelphia, October 4, 1850. Prepared for college at Reginald H. Chase's school, Philadelphia. Studied law with Morton P. Henry, Philadelphia, and was admitted to the bar June 26, 1873; is residing and practising law in Philadelphia, his office address being 221 South Fifth Street. Was married on November 27, 1878, to Margaretta Sergeant of Harrisburg, Penn. House address, 1015 Clinton Street, Philadelphia. Clubs: Philadelphia Club, Church Club.

JOHN DIXWELL, son of Epes Sargent and Mary Ingersoll (Bowditch) Dixwell, was born in Cambridge, Mass., March 21, 1848. He prepared for college at "The Private Latin School." Entered the Harvard Medical School in the fall of 1870; graduated with the degree of M. D., 1873; has practised ever since, having his house and office at 52 West Cedar Street. Has been the general agent of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children; director of the Industrial Aid Society of Boston; physician to the Boston Dispensary; member of the Boston Natural History Society, American Society for the Advancement of Science, Boston Medical Benevolent Society, Boston Medical Library Association; visitor for the Boston Provident Society, Holy Ghost Hospital, North Shore Relief Fund, and New England Home for Deaf Mutes, etc.; director of the American Invalid Aid Society, and manager of the Hospital Music Fund. Is interested in industrial and charitable works here and elsewhere. Is not a member of any church. Is married to youngest daughter of the late Captain H. L. Gurney.

WILLIAM WALTER DODGE, son of John C. and Lucy (Sherman) Dodge, was born in Cambridge, Mass., June 25, 1849. Was prepared for college at the Cambridge High School. Travelled abroad after graduation, and on his return devoted a year to the study of English and German literature, attending some courses of University lectures; after a few months in an office, entered the Harvard Law School in 1871; received the degree of LL. B. in June, 1873, and was admitted to the bar in July, 1874. Residence, Sparks Street, Cambridge, Mass. [No reply received.]

CHARLES ACTON DREW was born October 9, 1848, in Chelsea, Mass. Prepared for college at the Chelsea High School. After graduation studied law; was admitted to the bar July 1, 1873, and is practising in Boston. On August 3, 1875, was married to Hattie W. Clark, of Chelsea, Mass.; and on July 10, 1876, Bertha Vincent Drew was born. Residence, Newton, Mass. Office, Old South Building, Boston.

EDWARD DUDLEY, son of Thomas H. Dudley and Emmaline M. Dudley, was born in the city of Camden, N. J., January 17, 1849. His father was appointed United States Consul at Liverpool, England, November, 1861, and remained there until 1872. Was educated and prepared for college at the Royal Institution School of Liverpool, England. After graduation travelled in Europe and the East, returning in October, 1871; was then appointed United States deputy consul at Liverpool, England; was soon after made vice-consul, having full charge of the consulate; returned to America in January, 1873; studied law at Camden, N. J., with Peter L. Voorhees, Esq., and began to practise as attorney at law in November, 1874; is practising at Camden; in November, 1877, was admitted as counsellor at law; in February, 1878, was appointed by the chancellor of New Jersey a special master of the Court of Chancery; was also appointed a Supreme Court commissioner. On May 21, 1878, was married to Mary Shaw Bird of Philadelphia; and on April 1, 1879, Edward Lawrence Dudley was born. Mrs. Dudley died April 25, 1879. November 15, 1881, was married to Mary Thurber Brooks of Providence, and on June 11, 1884, May Irene Dudley was born. Mrs. Dudley died May 12, 1886. On July 15, 1895, left for San Francisco on a trip around the world, which lasted until June, 1896. On March 4, 1899, was married to Marie Gordon Mulock of New York. Is a member of the New York Yacht Club, the University Club of New York, the Manhattan Club of New York, the Union League Club of Philadelphia, the Harvard Club of Philadelphia, the Philadelphia Country Club. Summer residence, The Grange, Camden, N. J.; winter residence, St. James Hotel, Philadelphia. Office, 33 North 2d Street, Camden, N. J.

JOHN DWIGHT, son of John and Sarah Ann (Hastings) Dwight, was born in South Plymouth, Mass., August 20, 1844. He prepared for college at Phillips Exeter Academy. In October, 1870, opened an English classical school for both sexes, called the Rahway Institute, in Rahway, N. J., where he remained until August, 1876, when he was appointed master of the Johnson School in Woburn, Mass.; the following year became master of the Cummings School in the same town; and in November, 1877, was appointed a sub-master in the Lincoln School, South Boston; in December, 1889, was transferred to the Thomas N. Hart School, Boston, as sub-master; became master in 1895. On December 18, 1873, was married to Helen Louise Woodruff of Rahway; and on March 28, 1875, Helen Hastings Dwight was born; she died January 11, 1892; Bernard Woodruff Dwight was born March 30, 1881, and died January 7, 1882; Edith Marion Dwight was born August 13, 1883, and John Francis Dwight, October 20, 1885. Residence, 24 Algonquin Street, Dorchester, Mass.

CHARLES CROOKE EMOTT was born in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., December 11, 1850. Prepared for college in the Poughkeepsie schools and under a private tutor, joining the Class in the Sophomore year. Studied law in New York; received the degree of LL. B. from Columbia College in 1872; practised law in New York from 1873 to 1882, when he became secretary of the John J. Crooke Company, a corporation engaged in the manufacture of tin and lead foil. Resigned this position in January, 1905, and is now connected with the Dodge Publishing Company, 214–220 East 23d St., New York. Was married May 22, 1873, to Leila C. Tuckerman of Cambridge, Mass. Has one son, James, born May 28, 1874. Address, Headley Road, Morristown, N. J.

ANDREW OTIS EVANS died in September, 1879. A sketch of Evans's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

BENJAMIN MARVIN FERNALD, son of Benjamin A. Fernald, was born February 14, 1847, at Great Falls, N. H. He prepared for college at Phillips Exeter Academy and under a private tutor. Entered the law office of Judge Wiggin, Exeter, N. H., where he studied until April 16, 1873, when he was admitted to the Rockingham Bar and to a partnership with Judge Wiggin, with offices in Exeter and Boston; was made justice of the peace, and police justice for the town of Exeter; taught a grammar school from September, 1871, until July, 1872; since January 1, 1876, has practised in Boston. In 1881 and 1882 represented the town of Melrose in the legislature of Massachusetts; was chairman of the Committee on Taxation there in 1881, and was on the Judiciary Committee in 1882. Delivered the address on Memorial Day, 1888, before the U. S. Grant Post of the G. A. R. at Melrose. Represented the Sixth Middlesex District in the Senate of Massachusetts in 1891 and 1892. In 1891 was chairman of the Committee on Constitutional Amendments, and a member of the Judiciary Committee. In 1892 was chairman of the Judiciary Committee and chairman of Joint Special Committee on Public Reservation. In 1892 was appointed chairman of the Joint Special Committee to revise the judicial system of the Commonwealth, and report in print to the legislature of 1893. In 1892 delivered the address on Memorial Day at Saugus. On November 25, 1874, was married to Grace Fuller of Cambridge, Mass.; on September 12, 1877, Ethel Fernald was born, and on February 9, 1893, Paul Fuller Fernald was born. April 22, 1895, Paul Fuller Fernald died; May 5, 1896, Margaret Fernald was born. Was a director in the Melrose Coöperative Bank, is a member of the Melrose Savings Bank Corporation. Withdrew from the firm of Wiggin & Fernald January 1, 1900, and is practising law at 28 State Street, Boston, Mass. Is Associate Justice of the First District Court of Eastern Middlesex, comprising the cities of Malden, Melrose, Everett, and Medford, and the town of Wakefield. Is a Director of the Liberty Trust Company, of Boston.

GEORGE HARRISON FISHER, son of Joshua Francis and Eliza (Middleton) Fisher, was born in Abington, Montgomery County, Pa., June 25, 1849. He prepared for college at St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H. Read law in the office of George W. Biddle, Philadelphia, until March, 1873, when he was admitted to the bar. On April 20, 1876, was married to Betsey Riddle of Philadelphia. On March 12, 1877, Anna Fisher was born, and on October 29, 1881, Francis Fisher. Francis Fisher, of the Class of 1903, Harvard, died July 13, 1901. Is director of the Library Company of Philadelphia, member of Council of Historical Society of Pennsylvania, director of Athenæum of Philadelphia, vice-president of Pennsylvania Institution for the Blind, director of Philadelphia Dispensary, treasurer of Fund for Disabled Clergymen of the Diocese of Pennsylvania. Clubs: The Philadelphia, The Philadelphia Country, Hungtindon Valley Country, Reform Club of New York, the Shakespeare Society of Philadelphia. Office, 308 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

*ANDREW FITZ, son of Daniel Poland and Sarah Ellen (Brown) Fitz, was born in Pepperell, Mass., September 27, 1849. He prepared for college at the Salem High School. In October, 1870, began studying law with Perry & Endicott, Salem, Mass.; was admitted to the Essex bar October 3, 1873; November 1, 1877, formed a partnership for the practice of law with Tuckerman ('68) and Huntington ('70) at Salem. This partnership was dissolved by the withdrawal of Tuckerman, July 1, 1885; the partnership of Huntington & Fitz formed the same date, terminating with the death of Huntington in 1902. December, 1893, was elected a member of the School Committee of Salem for three years, reëlected December, 1896, and December, 1899, serving nine years.

Aside from his profession, and his interest in the First Church of Salem, of which he was clerk of the corporation for more than thirty-three years, Fitz was an enthusiastic member of the State military forces; joining the 2d Corps Cadets, Massachusetts Volunteer Militia, in 1874, he advanced through the various grades until in May, 1903, he became its commander, with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. On his retirement, in December, 1907, the following order was issued by Governor Guild: —

The Commanding Officer, Second Corps Cadets, M. V. M., Salem, Mass.

Sir, — You are respectfully informed that Lieutenant Colonel Andrew Fitz of the Second Corps Cadets, after more than twenty-seven years of continuous service in commission, was, on the 23d day of December, 1907, at his own request, placed on the retired list of the Massachusetts Volunteer Militia. In consideration of the long and faithful service rendered by him, his Excellency, the commander-in-chief, directs that Lieutenant Colonel Fitz be retired with the rank of Brigadier General.

A certificate of retirement will issue to Brigadier General Fitz as soon as it may be prepared.

His Excellency, the commander-in-chief, directs me to convey to General Fitz the appreciation and thanks of the Commonwealth for the long, valuable, and faithful service of so many years, and his regrets that the militia is to be deprived of his ripe experience in matters military.

Respectfully,
James B. Parker,
Adjutant General, Chief of Staff.

Fitz married, February 13, 1878, Susie J. Chase of Salem, and had two children, Ellen Mary Fitz, born April 19, 1879, and Daniel Chase Fitz (Harvard, 1905), born December 13, 1884. Fitz died very suddenly of heart disease December 6, 1908, and was buried with the full military honors befitting his rank in the State service.

*LAURENS NORRIS FRANCIS, son of Ephraim and Maria Frances (Goward) Francis, was born in Windham, Vt., April 1, 1844. Prepared for college at the Taunton, Mass., High School. From August, 1870, until February, 1871, was principal of an academy in West Randolph, Vt.; until September, 1871, studied law with Judge Bennett (Bennett & Fuller) of Taunton, Mass.; from September, 1871, until January, 1872, taught at Southboro', Mass., and at Cambridge until September, 1872, when he returned to the Taunton office, at the same time entering on the duties of private tutor in Judge Bennett's family; in September, 1873, was admitted to the bar, and in the following December opened an office in Taunton; was clerk of the First District Court of Bristol from 1874 to 1879; was in Common Council of City of Taunton, 1881 and 1882. Was married to Minnie Field Worsley June 20, 1883. Their only child, Marjorie Worsley Francis, was born March 16, 1898. Francis was an invalid for many years, suffering from paralysis agitans. He gave up his office in January, 1907, and did very little work after that. He died in Taunton, March 3, 1910.

THEODORE FROTHINGHAM, son of Theodore Frothingham, was born in Boston, March 22, 1848. His mother was a daughter of Frederic Wolcott of Litchfield, Conn. He prepared for college under Reginald H. Chase of Philadelphia, joining the Class in the Sophomore year. Engaged in business in Philadelphia as ship broker and commission merchant from graduation until July, 1886; then became connected with the Solicitors' Loan and Trust Company as secretary, and later as vice-president and treasurer; secretary and assistant treasurer of the Schuylkill River East Side Railroad Company since 1886; president of the Commercial Trust Company from 1894 until 1900; vice-president and treasurer of the Philadelphia Securities Company since 1898, and secretary and treasurer of the Assets Realization Company since 1900. Was director of Young Men's Christian Association for a number of years, also director of Philadelphia Orthopedic Hospital for many years, and treasurer for three years. Director of the Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf and Dumb for the past ten years, and as director is connected with a number of other corporations. Vice-president of the Harvard Club of Philadelphia from 1892–1895, and president from 1895–1898. Second vice-president of the New England Society of Pennsylvania from 1901–1903, and president from 1903 to 1906. Member of the Rittenhouse, Philadelphia Country, and other clubs. May 22, 1888, was married to Lucy Jaudon Harris of Philadelphia, and has five children: Theodore Frothingham, Jr., born April 19, 1889; Thomas Harris Frothingham, born April 5, 1891; Huntington Wolcott Frothingham, born September 19, 1893; William Bainbridge Frothingham, born October 30, 1898, and Dorothea Frothingham, born May 6, 1909. Address, Lafayette Building, Philadelphia.

FREDERIC TIMOTHY FULLER, son of Richard F. and Sarah K. (Batchelder) Fuller, was born in Salem, Mass., September 11, 1850. Prepared for college at the Cambridge High School. Was engaged in carrying on the home farm at Wayland, Mass., from 1870 to 1875, when he accepted the position of instructor in English at Phillips Exeter Academy, being the first teacher employed in the English department, then recently founded. After teaching for three years, he resigned on account of physical incapacity for the work, and removed to Sioux Falls, Dak., where he was engaged in farming, negotiating loans, etc., until 1881, when he returned to Massachusetts and became a reporter on the staff of the Boston "Traveller." He continued in the service of that paper as State House reporter, writer of political gossip, and editorial assistant, until February, 1886, when sedentary overwork resulted in inflammation of the spine and a complete physical breakdown. After some months he recovered sufficiently to resume newspaper work as editor of the Charlestown "Tribune" and State House correspondent for the "Transcript" and other papers; but shortly afterward succumbed to a mental disorder due to overwork and anxiety. Is now in apparent good health. In January, 1885, his article in the Boston "Literary World," entitled "Hawthorne and Margaret Fuller," was widely commented upon. In 1893 and 1894 drafted and secured the passage of an "Act for the Reclamation of the Sudbury Meadows and the protection of the public health in the valleys of the Concord and Sudbury rivers." Now receives private pupils for college and preparatory work. Was married November 2, 1871, to Ella J. Sherman of Wayland. August 5, 1872, Mabel Warren Fuller was born; May 8, 1877, Clara Margaret Fuller; April 2, 1879, Lucy Fuller; May 27, 1885, Edwin Sherman Fuller; March 22, 1887, Richard Frederick Fuller; and May 27, 1888, Willard Perrin Fuller. Address, South Walpole, Mass.

*JAMES BUCHANAN GALLOWAY died March 28, 1904. A sketch of Galloway's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

THOMAS BRATTLE GANNETT, son of William Whitworth and Charlotte (Sanger) Gannett, was born in Roxbury, Mass., July 29, 1849. Prepared for college at the Cambridge Latin School. Left college at the end of his Junior year, but received his degree of A. B. on Commencement, 1897. Since 1871 has been in the sugar refining business. Was married December 18, 1873, to Edith Frances Bates; has four children: Thomas Brattle, Jr., born February 28, 1876 (Harvard, 1897); Edith, born June 5, 1877; Charlotte Sanger, born August 20, 1878; and Robert Tileston, born May 12, 1893. Residence, Cambridge.

*FREDERIC WILLIAM GODON died September 22, 1876. A sketch of Godon's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

*SAMUEL FAY GREENE died October 16, 1877. A sketch of Greene's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

RICHARD THEODORE GREENER, son of Richard Wesley and Mary Ann (Le Brune) Greener, was born in Philadelphia, January 30, 1844. Prepared for college at the Phillips Andover Academy. September, 1870, principal Male Department Institute Philadelphia, Pa.; January, 1872, principal Sumner High School, Washington, D. C. While in this position became associate editor of "New National Era and Citizen." October, 1873, elected Professor of Mental and Moral Philosophy and Logic in the University of South Carolina at Columbia, S. C. In 1875 elected a member of the American Philological Association, and elected by the legislature a member of the commission to revise the school system of the State. Was graduated from the Law School of the University of South Carolina in 1876. December, 1877, became Dean of the Law Department of Howard University, serving until 1880. He began the active practice of law in 1878, a member of the firm of Cook & Greener. In 1882 he received the degree of LL. D. from the College of Monrovia. On the death of General Grant, July 23, 1885, he was chosen one of the Trustees of the Grant Monument Association, New York City, and from 1885 to 1892 served as the secretary of the association. From October, 1885, to April, 1890, he was chief examiner of the Civil Service Boards of New York City and County. He was appointed by President McKinley Commercial Agent of the United States at Vladivostok, East Siberia. In 1892 the Chinese government conferred on him the Order of the Double Dragon, second class, third grade, for services rendered Chinese merchants and for aid in succoring the Shansi famine sufferers. He was married September, 1874, to Genevieve Ida Fleet of Washington. Their children are: Horace Kempton, born September 11, 1875, died May 11, 1876; Mary Louise, born January 27, 1877; Russell Lowell, born February 2, 1878; Belle Marion, born November 26, 1879; Ethel Alice, born December 20, 1880; Theodora Genevieve, born February 22, 1886; Charles Woodman, born August 10, died November 11, 1887. [No report from Greener; address, 5237 Ellis Avenue, Chicago, Ill.]

HERMAN JOHN GROESBECK, son of William S. and Elizabeth (Brunet) Groesbeck, was born in Cincinnati September 12, 1849. Prepared for college at private schools in Cincinnati. After graduation studied medicine in Edinburgh and Paris; was graduated at the Royal College of Surgeons, Edinburgh; received the degree of M. D. March 1, 1873, and L. R. C. S., Edinburgh, 1875. On November 5, 1872, was married to Elizabeth Perry of Cincinnati. The dates of the births of his children are as follows: Elizabeth G. Groesbeck, July 20, 1873; William G. Groesbeck, September 1, 1874; Herman V. Groesbeck, June 23, 1876 (died May 3, 1883); Perry Gray Groesbeck, March 23, 1879 (died May 4, 1883); and Herman G. Groesbeck, August 5, 1884.

WILLIAM GARDNER HALE. By profession investigator and teacher. Was fellow in Philosophy in Harvard College 1870–71; tutor in Latin in Harvard College 1874–76; in 1876–77 studied abroad, as Harvard Travelling Fellow, in Leipzig, Göttingen, and Rome; in 1877–80 was again tutor in Latin in Harvard College; in 1880 was called to the professorship of the Latin Language and Literature in Cornell University, and in 1892 to the head professorship of the Latin Language and Literature in the University of Chicago, where he now is. Received the degree of LL. D. from Union University at the Centennial of 1895, from Princeton University at the Sesquicentennial of 1896, from the University of St. Andrews in 1907, and from the University of Aberdeen in the same year. Was president of the American Philological Association in 1892; is American vice-president of the English Classical Association since 1907; was member and chairman of the Latin Conference, the report of which is published in the "Report of the Committee of Ten," 1894; was member of the subsequent similar committee, appointed by the American Philological Association and the American Educational Association, the report of which was published by both bodies in 1899; is member of the Commission on College Entrance Requirements in Latin, established by the American Philological Association in 1908. Was associate editor of the English "Classical Review" from 1888 until 1906; is associate editor of the English "Classical Quarterly," established in 1906; is of the board of editors of "Classical Philology"; was appointed annual director of the American School of Classical Studies at Athens for the year 1888–89, but declined; was made chairman of the committee appointed to determine whether it was feasible to establish an American School of Classical Studies in Rome, and, later, permanent chairman of the managing committee. Was sent out as director, to establish the school, in the year 1895–96. Discovered in the Vatican Library a manuscript of Catullus of the first importance, hitherto concealed under a false number. Resigned the chairmanship of the managing committee in 1899. A list of Hale's principal publications is printed in the Class Report for 1905. Was married, in 1883, to Harriet Knowles Swinburne of Newport, R. I., and has four children: Swinburne, born 1884; Virginia Swinburne, 1887; Margaret, 1891; and Gardner, 1894. Address: 5757 Lexington Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

*JOSEPH HEALY died April 18, 1880. A sketch of Healy's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

JOHN EDWIN HILL, son of John and Sarah Ann (Simonds) Hill, was born in Stoneham, Mass., August 23, 1848. He prepared for college at Phillips Exeter Academy. Until the spring of 1873 was with John Hill & Co., manufacturers and dealers in boots and shoes, Boston; then carried on the same business under the firm name of John E. Hill & Co. For the past two years has been engaged as selling agent in the same line of business. Office, 46 Lincoln Street, Boston. Married December 24, 1892, Caroline Ella Manning of Rockland, Me. Edwin Manning Hill, born December 22, 1894.

*THOMAS LESLIE HINCKLEY died November 1, 1875. A sketch of Hinckley's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

CHARLES EMERSON HOAR, son of Ebenezer Rockwood and Caroline Downes (Brooks) Hoar, was born in Concord, Mass., March 27, 1850. He prepared for college at Phillips Exeter Academy. After graduation he was for four years in the railroad business in Nebraska and Iowa; then went to California, and for thirty-five years has been engaged in stock-raising and farming. Address, Simi, Ventura Co., Cal.

ARTEMAS HENRY HOLMES, son of Artemas Lawrence and Mary Margret (Bloomer) Holmes, was born in Galena, Ill., May 16, 1849. He lived in St. Louis until 1864, when his parents moved to New York. Fitted for college at Phillips Exeter Academy, Class of '66; entered the Harvard Law School in September, 1870; remained there until November, 1871. Was admitted to the Missouri bar January 29, 1872; passed a year in travelling abroad, and on his return to New York City entered the law offices of Chittenden & Hubbard as a clerk; was admitted to the New York bar in May, 1874; became a partner in said firm on January 1, 1875. In May, 1877, formed a partnership with George H. Adams ('70), under the name Holmes & Adams, which continued for nineteen years. Married Elizabeth J. Allen of Boston, Mass., November 6, 1875; she died September 1, 1876. Married Lillian Stokes of New York May 20, 1880. Children: Artemas Holmes, born October 16, 1881; Lillian Stokes Holmes, born May 1, 1884; and Hilda Holmes, born March 11, 1890. Law offices, 66 Broadway, New York; firm Holmes, Rapallo & Kennedy. Is a member of the University Club and Sons of the Revolution, and other associations. Since he entered upon his business and social career, he has devoted himself strictly to professional and to the ordinary domestic and social pursuits, not seeking for but abstaining from political, literary, or social ambitions, and has enjoyed a most happy domestic life and a satisfactory amount of professional success. For the past few years his health has not been of the best, and he has suffered from deafness; for about fifteen years he has been of counsel to the Manhattan Life Insurance Company. Residence, 453 Madison Avenue, New York.

RAYMOND FLETCHER HOLWAY, son of Philip and Susan (Bassett) Holway, was born in Boston, Mass., November 27, 1845. He prepared for college under private tutors, and joined the Class in the Junior year. Studied in the School of Theology of Boston University, where he took the degree of B. D. in 1873; in April, 1873, joined the New England Conference (Methodist), and was appointed to Blandford, Mass., where he remained until April, 1875, when he was appointed to Florence, Mass.; was ordained deacon April 11, 1875; in the spring of 1878 was appointed to Warren, Mass.; remained in Warren until the spring of 1881; was then appointed pastor of St. Paul's M. E. Church in Lynn; remained three years, the full time allotted by the rules of the denomination, and in the spring of 1884 was appointed pastor in Newtonville; after serving the church there, was appointed, in 1887, to the pastorate of the first M. E. Church, Dorchester, in Boston. He served one year on the school committee in the town of Warren, and has been for several years on the Board of Visitors to the College of Liberal Arts, Boston University. In 1892 was appointed pastor of the Wesley Church, Salem, which charge he served until he was invited to become pastor of Trinity Church, Worcester, Mass., where he went in April, 1895; in April, 1898, was assigned to the pastorate of Trinity Church, Charlestown, Mass.; in April, 1903, was assigned to the pastorate of the Harvard Street Methodist Episcopal Church in Cambridge, Mass., where he continued until the spring of 1909, when he sought a period of rest. He is living at present in Cambridge, spending much of his time at his summer home in Truro, Mass. November 28, 1867, he married Maria M. Rich of Boston. The following children have been born to them: Louis Irving, September 13, 1870; Arthur Huntington, May 3, 1874; Gilbert Raymond, June 22, 1875; Susan Florence, January 5, 1878; Clarence Warren, October 1, 1880; Ernest Fletcher, December 21, 1881.

*HENRY KENNEY HORTON died December 15, 1887. A sketch of Horton's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

WILLIAM GOING HOSEA was born in Cincinnati, February 4, 1848. From graduation to October, 1875, resided in Cincinnati. Studied law at Cincinnati College, and received degree of LL. B. in April, 1872. Removed to New York, and resided there until May, 1888. From January 1, 1878, to May 1, 1885, was a partner with William H. Waring, '52. In May, 1888, returned to Cincinnati and resumed the practice of law there. Address, 4 Wiggins Block.

*ARTHUR LORD HUNTINGTON died October 19, 1902. A sketch of Huntington's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

LEONARD HUNTRESS, son of Leonard and Lydia Ann (McKinnon) Huntress, was born in Tewksbury, Mass., September 25, 1848. Prepared for college at Phillips Andover Academy. During the first year after graduation taught in the Riverview Military Academy, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; then studied medicine in the office of Dr. Charles A. Savory, Lowell, Mass., and in Philadelphia, attending the winter course of lectures at the Jefferson Medical College in that city; received the degree of M. D. from the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York in March, 1874; was abroad from June, 1874, to June, 1876, studying in Vienna, Strasburg, and Berlin; is practising in Lowell, Mass., where he has been a member of the School Board; in 1895 was appointed by Governor Greenhalge a trustee of the State Almshouse and State Farm, and is still a member of that board. Is a director in the Citizens' Fire Insurance Company of Boston, a trustee of the City Institution for Savings of Lowell, and chairman of the Lowell Board of Health. On September 13, 1881, was married to Elizabeth Eaglesham of Lowell. Elizabeth Stearns Huntress was born on May 23, 1882, and died December 28, 1892; Juliette Huntress, on January 17, 1886; Leonard Huntress, Jr., on October 23, 1888.

*JAMES CLARK JORDAN was born in Boston, Mass., April 12, 1850. Prepared for college at the Boston Latin School. After graduation was for some time connected with the dry-goods house of Jordan, Marsh & Co. of Boston. Retiring from that firm, he moved to San Francisco and was largely interested in real estate there and in Oakland. In 1902 he established a summer home on the Pollet River in New Brunswick. There and in Boston and San Francisco he passed most of his time. For several years before his death he was a great invalid. He died at San Francisco, August 7, 1910, and was buried at Forest Hills Cemetery on August 19. June 18, 1873, he married Helen L. Stevens of Boston. Their children are: Helen Stevens Jordan, born March 16, 1875; James C. Jordan, Jr., born September 26, 1876; and Marian Jordan, born May 21, 1879. January 6, 1892, he married Jeannette Amanda Stiles, who survives him.

CHARLES WILLARD KETTELL, son of George Adams and Catherine Hannah (by birth Willard, by adoption Adams) Kettell, was born in Charlestown, Mass., November 3, 1848. Was prepared for college at the Charlestown High School. In June, 1873, was graduated from the Lawrence Scientific School, receiving the degree of S. B. summa cum laude; since then has been engaged in work under the United States Engineer Corps on the Merrimac River and elsewhere. For nineteen years was connected with the George F. Blake Manufacturing Co. of Boston. Afterwards opened an office in Boston, as mechanical engineer.

Kettell writes: "Am a member of the Boston Society of Civil Engineers, and read a paper before this society on 'Grant's Calculating Machine.' Until my recent resignation I was a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, in the 'Transactions' of which will be found a paper written by me on the 'Strength of Pump Cylinders.' With my wife I was for many years a member of the Old Cambridge Photographic Club. I am now serving my ninth year as member of the Parish Committee of the First Parish, Lexington. Am a member of the Lexington Historical Society. A severe illness in the fall of 1907, affecting one of my eyes, has compelled me to retire from the practice of my profession. My son expects to enter Harvard this fall [1910]. My wife and I enjoyed a trip to Europe in 1896, and again, in 1899, a trip to England gave us much pleasure. We made a third trip to England in 1907. Was married on June 1, 1886, to Fanny Russell Hawes of Worcester; July 14, 1887, Margaret Willard Kettell was born, and on November 26, 1890, Russell Hawes Kettell. Residence, Lexington, Mass."

*FREDERIC KIDDER, son of Edward W. and Ann (Potter) Kidder, was born in Wilmington, N. C., November 12, 1847. Prepared for college at private schools in Stockbridge, Mass., and New Haven, Conn., entering the Class in the Sophomore year. After graduation Kidder travelled extensively in the West, studying farming methods. He then returned to North Carolina and bought a rice plantation on the Cape Fear River some miles below Wilmington. This plantation Kidder worked with such success that his rice eventually commanded a premium as seed-rice for foreign countries. Here Kidder lived the life of the ideal Southern planter. Kind and considerate to all in his employ, he was universally loved and respected, and exerted a marked influence for good throughout the community. In the first Bryan campaign, in an attempt to stem the free-silver current, Kidder was a candidate for the North Carolina legislature, but was defeated. In the latter part of 1906 he developed a fatal disease, and he died at Litchfield, Conn., October 27, 1908. Kidder never married.

BABSON SAVILIAN LADD, son of John Savilian and Mary Ann (Butler) Ladd, was born in Cambridge, Mass., September 6, 1848. He was prepared for college at the Cambridge High School. From January 17, 1870, to July 1, 1872, taught in the Worcester (Mass.) High School; July 8 entered the law office of Lathrop, Abbot & Jones, 13 Pemberton Square, Boston; was at the Harvard Law School four months; was admitted to the bar March 27, 1875; since January, 1876, has been practising in Boston; from October, 1883, until March, 1887, was in partnership with James R. Carret (Harvard, '67). From May, 1881, until into September, 1883, travelled in Europe with his family. On November 16, 1878, was married to Ella Cora Brooks of Milton, Mass.; and on February 16, 1880, Paul Dean Ladd was born, who died January 22, 1885; Alice Ladd was born February 5, 1885; Amelia Ladd was born August 5, 1886; and John Wood Brooks Ladd, March 27, 1889. Office, 10 Tremont Street, Boston.

AMORY APPLETON LAWRENCE, son of Amos Adams and Sarah Elizabeth (Appleton) Lawrence, was born in Boston, Mass., April 22, 1848. He prepared for college at E. S. Dixwell's School in Boston, and under a private tutor. In September, 1870, entered the dry-goods commission and manufacturing house of Lawrence & Co., Boston; was admitted to the firm in February, 1871. January, 1873, was made a director of the Massachusetts National Bank; resigned in 1883, desiring to devote himself to the organization of new business, his firm having taken the Pacific Mills account; was made a director of the National Union Bank in 1887. Was made president of the Salmon Falls Manufacturing Company, also the Ipswich and Gilmanton Mills; was made a director in the Dwight Manufacturing Company, Cocheco Manufacturing Company, Pacific Mills, Boston Manufacturing Company, Waltham Bleachery and Dye Works. In 1908 was made a director of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad; in 1909, a director of the Boston and Maine Railroad, and the Maine Central Railroad.

In 1906 was chosen Overseer of Harvard College, and is also chairman of his Class Committee. Appointed trustee of the Church Home for Orphans and Destitute Children; trustee Provident Institution for Savings; vice-president Perkins Institution for the Blind; vice-president Massachusetts Hospital Life Insurance Company; vice-president Industrial School for Crippled Children. In 1891 was made treasurer of the Boston Episcopal Charitable Society; in 1897 was made treasurer of the Groton Water Company; served three years during the organization of the company. By request of the Associated Board of Trade of Boston, served during the years 1898 and 1899 as one of Mayor Quincy's advisory committee. In 1901 was made president of the Boston Merchants Association, which office he held for six years. In 1903 was made one of the members of the Executive Committee of the Good Government Association of Boston, and the same year was made a member of the Executive Committee of the Civic Federation of New England.

Travelled abroad for a few months in 1867, 1872, 1889, 1894, 1900, 1908, 1909, and 1910. Travelled in California during a few weeks in the springs of 1893, 1901, and 1910. In February, 1898, went abroad with his daughter to travel, but was obliged to return in May, owing to the Cuban war.

June 1, 1871, was married to Emily Fairfax Silsbee of Salem, Mass. Mrs. Lawrence died April 4, 1895. Amos Amory Lawrence was born December 1, 1874; John Silsbee Lawrence on September 6, 1878; and Edith Lawrence on November 10, 1879. His son Amos graduated from Harvard College in the Class of 1896. His son John graduated from Harvard College, in the Class of 1901. June 12, 1900, was married to Gertrude M. Rice of Boston. Mrs. Lawrence died January 12, 1907. Office 89 Franklin Street, Boston. Residence, Boston, and for a few weeks each year enjoys country life on his farm at Groton, Mass. Summer home at Beverly, Mass.

WALDO LINCOLN, son of Daniel Waldo and Frances Fiske (Merrick) Lincoln, was born in Worcester, Mass., December 31, 1849. He was prepared for college at the Worcester High School. After graduation passed one year at the Lawrence Scientific School; January 1, 1872, entered into partnership with Joseph P. Mason (formerly of '70) of Worcester, Mass., the firm carrying on business in iron and steel in Worcester; partnership dissolved March 18, 1875; engaged in the manufacture of copperas and Venetian red, with Cutter of '69, at Worcester; dissolved this partnership in 1890, and continued alone until July, 1893, when he retired, and has since had no active business; was for ten years treasurer of the Worcester Polytechnic Institute and a member of the Board of Trustees; from May, 1894, to June, 1896, was in Europe with his family, and since then has devoted his time to historical and genealogical studies. In April, 1898, he published "Four Generations of the Waldo Family in America," in the New England Historical and Genealogical Register; and in 1902 a complete "Genealogy of the Waldo Family" in two volumes. Has held no political office, but was a candidate for the Electoral College on the Democratic ticket in 1884. He was a delegate to the Gold-Democratic national convention in 1896, and was candidate for Secretary of State of Massachusetts on the Gold-Democratic ticket of that year. Since then has had no strong party affiliations. Was elected vice-president of the American Antiquarian Society in 1907 and its president in 1908, and still holds that office. Is a member also of the Massachusetts Historical Society, New England Historic Genealogical Society, Colonial Society of Massachusetts, Prince Society, Club of Odd Volumes, and several minor historical societies. Clubs: Worcester, Tatnuck Country of Worcester, Union of Boston, Tavern of Boston. On June 24, 1873, was married to Fanny Chandler of Worcester, and has five children: Merrick Lincoln, born March 25, 1875; Josephine Rose Lincoln, born February 28, 1878; Daniel Waldo Lincoln, born September 2, 1882; George Chandler Lincoln, born August 6, 1884; Dorothy Lincoln, born March 4, 1890, died April 1, 1909, at Singapore while on her way round the world with her parents. Address, Worcester, Mass.

GEORGE SHERMAN LITTLEFIELD, son of George Thomas and Anna (Thorp) Littlefield, was born at Watertown, Mass., April 2, 1851. He prepared for college at the Somerville High School. Studied law a portion of the time at the Harvard Law School until October 4, 1872, when he was admitted to the bar. Has practised ever since in Boston; is now in partnership with Calvin S. Tilden (Harvard, 1898) as Littlefield & Tilden. In November, 1875, was made a trial justice for the same county; was appointed special justice of the 4th District Court of Eastern Middlesex at its opening, July, 1882, and still holds that office. Was chairman of the School Committee of Winchester for ten years, and had nineteen years of service on the board; was historian of the Winchester Historical and Genealogical Society during its existence. On June 29, 1874, was married to Georgiana Stevens of Somerville, Mass. On September 19, 1876, Anna Sherman Littlefield was born; on September 19, 1880, Arthur Stevens Littlefield was born. Is a member of Calmuet Club of Winchester and has been quite prominent in club league bowling matters, having been secretary of two leagues, and president of another. Has been prominent in Freemasonry, being a Past Master of William Parkman Lodge, Winchester, and past High Priest of Woburn R. A. Chapter, and a life member of Boston Command-cry, K. T. Residence, Winchester, Mass.; office, Old South Building, Boston.

*FRED WADSWORTH LORING died November 6, 1871. A sketch of Loring's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

*ETHELBERT MILLS LOW died July 2, 1881. A sketch of Low's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

*PERCEVAL LOWELL died December 3, 1887. A sketch of Lowell's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

HORACE GRAY LUNT, son of Orrington and Cornelia (Gray) Lunt, was born in Chicago August 13, 1847. He prepared for college at the Phillips Andover Academy. Studied law in Chicago; was admitted to the bar January 10, 1873; practised law in Chicago until January, 1886, when ill health compelled him to abandon both his profession and home. Resided a year at San José, Cal.; afterwards went to Colorado, and at present is living in Colorado Springs, Colo. Appointed by the governor judge of the District Court of the Fourth Judicial District of Colorado, January 24, 1895. Elected, November, 1895, for six-year term as such judge. Resigned May 3, 1899, and resumed the practice of law at Colorado Springs. Degree of M. A., Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., in 1878. September 3, 1874, was married to Caroline K. Isaacs of Chicago. The births of their children have been as follows: Horace F. Lunt, June 3, 1875; Nina M. Lunt, June 7, 1877; Regina Lunt, October 1, 1879; Carolyn Lunt, February 8, 1884; Lawrence K. Lut, June 12, 1886. His son Horace graduated from Harvard College in the Class of 1898, and his son Lawrence in the Class of 1900.

*HARRY WILCOCKS McCALL died June 18, 1894. A sketch of McCall's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

CHARLES BARNSLEY McMICHAEL son of Morton and Mary Estell McMichael, was born in Philadelphia, February 23, 1850. He prepared for college at Chase and Labberton's School, Philadelphia. Began the study of law in September, 1870, and was admitted to the bar in Philadelphia, on May 25, 1872. In November, 1875, was offered the position of First Assistant United States Attorney, but declined. In 1881 was appointed solicitor for the Guardians of the Poor. Held this position for two years, and was then promoted and given charge of the preparation and trial of all cases in which the City of Philadelphia was a party. By gradual promotion attained the position of First Assistant City Solicitor, and had under his supervision a large amount of litigation, including the preparation and trial of suits both at law and equity in the courts of Common Pleas, and in the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. In September, 1892, resigned the position of First Assistant City Solicitor, and resumed private practice. Was appointed judge of the Court of Common Pleas, No. 3, of the First Judicial District of Pennsylvania, by the Governor of Pennsylvania, March 5, 1896, and in November, 1896, unanimously elected for a term of ten years from the first Monday of January, 1897; in 1906 unanimously reëlected president judge. Was president of the Harvard Club of Philadelphia for three years. Published a "Digest of Statutes and Adjudicated Cases relating to the Municipal Law of the City of Philadelphia." On June 7, 1877, was married to Anna Mallet Prevost, who died January 28, 1904; has two children, Caroline Sutherland McMichael and Charles Prevost McMichael.

BENJAMIN PICKMAN MANN, son of Horace and Mary (Peabody) Mann, was born in West Newton, Mass., April 30, 1848. Prepared for college at the Concord, Mass., High School and under Professor E. W. Gurney. Entomologist to government of Brazil, January to June, 1871, under special commission. Lecturer and instructor in entomology and botany, 1872 to 1880; instructor in botany at Bowdoin College in 1877. Compiler of "Mann's Reference Indexes" and specialist in preparation of bibliographical lists; devised improved system of genealogical tables. Recorder and computer at Harvard College Observatory early in 1879, and again in 1880. From 1881 to 1886 assistant entomologist and assistant in Entomological Division of U. S. Department of Agriculture, engaged mostly in bibliographical work; in early part of 1887, in charge of re-arranging and cataloguing the library of that department. From August, 1886, to July, 1887, examiner in U. S. Civil Service Commission. In May, 1887, took examination for reëntry into civil service, passing at highest percentage ever attained. Resigned from commission, July 31, 1887; in October accepted appointment as assistant examiner in Patent Office, where he now is. Has been since 1887 treasurer of the People's Real Estate Tontine of New York City, a philanthropic organization for the prevention of poverty in old age. On July 12, 1878, was married to Louisa C. F. van de Sande. Has no children. Residence, 1918 Sunderland Place, Washington, D. C.

*WILLIAM MERRICK died January 17, 1887. A sketch of Merrick's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

*CHARLES LUCIUS MITCHELL died June 21, 1898. A sketch of Mitchell's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

CHARLES MONROE, son of Charles W. and Abbie (Kimball) Monroe, was born at Rumford, Me., December 23, 1849. He was prepared for college at the Boston Latin School, taking the regular six-year course. After graduating from Harvard in 1870, he taught school in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., until January, 1871. In the spring of 1871 he went to Leavenworth, Kans., and entered upon the study of the law. Was admitted to the bar December 10, 1872. In July, 1873, entered the office of Mr. T. A. Hurd, and in July, 1875, became a partner in the firm of Hurd & Monroe. On October 1, 1875, was appointed assistant attorney of the Kansas Pacific Railway at Kansas City, Mo., and moved to Lawrence, Kans., in 1876, retaining the same position with that company and its successor, the Union Pacific Railway. On May 1, 1887, was appointed assistant general attorney of the Kansas Division of the Union Pacific Railway at Topeka, Kans. January 1, 1891, resigned and moved to Los Angeles, Cal., and became a member of the firm of Wells, Monroe & Lee. Continued the practice of law with that firm until October, 1893, when he formed a partnership with Stephen M. White under the firm name of White & Monroe. Practised by himself from April, 1899, until the 12th of April, 1905, when he was appointed judge of the Superior Court of Los Angeles County, by the Governor of California. He was subsequently elected to the same position for a term ending December 31, 1914. On March 18, 1880, was married to Ella Chartis Hadley, at Lawrence, Kans. Address, California Club, Los Angeles, Cal.

ERNEST NATHANIEL MORISON was born in Baltimore, November 13, 1848. Was prepared for college at Phillips Exeter Academy. Was at one time a member of the firm of Morison & Williams, general commission merchants, Baltimore, Md., and afterward in the wool-commission business; was then the agent for the New York Mutual Life Insurance Company in Baltimore. Is now a stock-broker, firm of E. N. Morison & Co., Baltimore. On October 31, 1871, was married to Priscilla Ridgely White. On September 24, 1872, N. H. Morison, Jr., was born; January 24, 1874, Charles Ridgely White; in 1876, Sidney Brown; in 1878, Rebecca Angelica; in 1881, Ernest (who died in 1907); in 1883, Henry White; in 1886, William George; in August, 1889, Allison; and in May, 1891, Robert Brown (who died in 1899).

GODFREY MORSE, son of Jacob Maas and Charlotte (Mehlinger), was born in Wachenheim, in the Rhenish Palatinate, Bavaria, May 19, 1846. He prepared for college at the Boston Latin School and the Boston English High School. After graduation studied law, receiving the degree of LL. B. at the Harvard Law School in June, 1872; during the winter months of that year taught English Literature and Arithmetic in the Boston Public Evening High School; was admitted to the bar by the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, July 22, 1873, and by the United States Circuit Court October 2, 1874. February 3, 1879, was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court of the United States at Washington. During the years 1876, 1877, and 1878 was a member of the School Committee of the City of Boston; 1882 and 1883 was a member of the Common Council of the City of Boston; June 18, 1883, was elected president of the Common Council of the City of Boston; 1882, 1883, and 1884 was assistant counsel of the United States in the Court of Commissioners of Alabama Claims; March 11, 1885, was appointed a member of the Board of Court House Commissioners for the Erection of a new Court House for the City of Boston and County of Suffolk; 1887 was elected a member of the Board of Trustees of the Boston Dental College; September, 1896, was a member of the National Democratic Convention which met at Indianapolis; 1897 and 1898 was chairman of the Massachusetts State Committee of the National Democratic party, as well as chairman of the City Committee of the City of Boston of the National Democratic party; was for many years president of the Leopold Morse Home, vice-president of the Boston Home for Incurables, president of the Federation of Jewish Charities of Boston, and a trustee in a large number of other charitable corporations. Has visited Europe a number of times; in 1895 made a trip to the Orient, visiting the principal Mediterranean ports; traveled in California in 1897; was a director of the Allouez Mining Company, is a Trustee of the American Surety Company of New York, a member of the University Club, the Athletic Club, and the Elysium Club of Boston, and of the Criterion Club, and Manhattan Club of New York. Received the degree of A. M. from Tufts College in 1900. Was married January 26, 1907, to Janet Rosenfeld Conrad. Practises law at 53 State Street, Boston, with Lee M. Friedman (Harvard, 1893) and Percy A. Atherton, (Harvard, 1900), under the name of Morse & Friedman.

OTIS NORCROSS, son of Otis and Lucy A. (Lane) Norcross, was born in Boston, Mass., September 1, 1848. He prepared for college at the Boston Latin School. After graduation studied law; received the degree of LL. B. from the Harvard Law School in June, 1873; was admitted to the bar in September, 1873, and is practising in Boston, in partnership with his brother, Grenville Howland Norcross ('75), under firm name of O. & G. H. Norcross. Was married January 20, 1881, to Susannah Ruggles Plympton, daughter of the late Henry Plympton of Boston. Residence, 249 Marlborough Street. Office, 50 Congress Street, Boston.

FRANKLIN NOURSE, son of Benjamin F. and Laura E. (Little) Nourse, was born in Bangor, Me., March 5, 1848. He prepared for college at the Boston Latin School. From graduation until September, 1871, was in the machine shop of the Saco Water Power Company, at Biddeford, Me.; then passed a year in the various departments of the Bates Mills, Lewiston, Me.; on returning to Biddeford, entered the draughting room of the Saco Water Power Company's machine-shop; was afterwards connected with the Masconomet Mills, at Newburyport, Mass., and the Washington Print Works, at Philadelphia; was engaged in manufacturing and mill engineering at Waterville and Biddeford, Me.; November, 1877, took charge of the Barker Mills, Auburn, Me.; March 1, 1879, took the agency of the Lawrence Duck Company, Lawrence, Mass.; April 1, 1880, took the agency of the York Manufacturing Company at Saco, Me.; in 1895 went to Lowell, Mass., as Agent of the Lawrence Manufacturing Company. Retired from manufacturing May 1, 1910. Present address, Lowell, Mass. In 1873–74 was a councilman in Biddeford, Me., and in 1886–87 and 1887–88 an alderman in Saco, Me. On September 12, 1878, was married to Edith Frances Riversmith; on June 17, 1879, Benjamin Franklin Nourse, 2d, was born; and on March 19, 1881, Edith Frances Nourse.

*CHARLES FREEMAN NYE was born in Champlain, N. Y., October 3, 1849, the son of Bartlett and Laura Maria (Moore) Nye. He prepared for college under private tutors and at Phillips Exeter Academy, entering with the Class in 1866. After graduation he studied law in the Columbia University Law School, and was admitted to the bar June 11, 1875. Immediately upon finishing his college work, he began to take an active part in all public matters pertaining to the life of the town and village of Champlain. He held the offices of village president, president of the Board of Health, president of the Board of Education, and president of Glenwood Cemetery Association.

He was a man of much literary culture, and his broad acquaintance with books showed itself in the interest he always felt in the school library and in an intelligent choice of books. He had a very social nature and was a leader in the best social life of the community.

In early life he united with the Presbyterian Church, and for many years he was not only a devoted, faithful, and generous member, but also a capable and judicious officer. For sixteen years he held the office of trustee; for ten years he was a member of the church committee; and for seventeen years superintendent of the Sunday School. In all of these various relations he was a conscientious and capable member. He bestowed his kindnesses in the most unostentatious manner, and many a life was made easier and brighter through material comforts given by him. Few men had a part in so many interests connected with the village of Champlain as had Mr. Nye. His death carried profound sorrow throughout the entire community.

He was a member of the University Club, New York, Lake Champlain Yacht Club, Clinton County Bar Association, Society of Colonial Wars, and Society of Mayflower Descendants in the State of New York. Nye died of pneumonia December 23, 1905.

HENRY PARKMAN, son of Samuel and Mary Eliot (Dwight) Parkman, was born in Boston, May 23, 1850. He prepared for college at Mr. E. S. Dixwell's school, Boston. After graduation studied and attended University lectures for one year; then entered the Harvard Law School; was proctor at the College, received the degree of LL. B. in June, 1873, and of A. M., June, 1874; practised law in Boston until June, 1895, when he became treasurer of the Provident Institution for Savings in the Town of Boston, with office at 36 Temple Place. Was six years (1879–1884) a member of the Common Council of the city of Boston, and for some years secretary, and subsequently on two separate occasions president of the Republican City Committee of Boston. Represented Ward 9 of Boston for three years (1886–87–88) in the House of Representatives, and was Senator from the Fifth Suffolk District in 1892 and 1893. Is now a member of the Prison Commission of Massachusetts. Was secretary of the Alumni Association of Harvard College from 1884 to 1896. Was a member of the Commission on the Height of Buildings in the City of Boston in 1904. Married August 21, 1890, to Mary Frances Parker of Newark, N. J. Has five children: Mary Elizabeth, born July 24, 1891; Edith Wolcott, born October 28, 1892; Henry, born April 26, 1894; Penelope Frances, born April 12, 1896; Francis, born February 26, 1898.

SAMUEL L. PARRISH studied law for two years in Philadelphia, and was admitted to the bar on July 1, 1872; immediately thereafter sailed for Europe, passing somewhat over a year in study and travel in Europe; returned in October, 1873, and practised in Philadelphia; removed to New York in 1877, continuing practice; was for many years associated with Pendleton ('70) under the firm name of Parrish & Pendleton, 44 and 46 Broadway; retired from active practice in 1897, continuing his offices with Pendleton at 25 Broad Street, New York City.

At the time of the Messina earthquake, in 1908, Parrish served on the American Relief Committee in Rome, by appointment of Ambassador Griscom. In recognition of his services the Italian Government bestowed upon Parrish the decoration of the Order of the Crown of Italy.

THEOPHILUS PARSONS, son of Thomas and Martha (Watson) Parsons, was born in Brookline, Mass., July 1, 1849. He was prepared for college at the Brookline High School. In October, 1870, entered the Lyman Mills, Holyoke, Mass., to study the manufacture of cotton cloth, and on October 9, 1873, was appointed superintendent; passed the summer of 1873 in Europe. January 1, 1880, was appointed agent of the Pocasset Manufacturing Company, Fall River, Mass.; September 1, 1880, appointed agent of Lyman Mills, Holyoke, Mass.; October 1, 1884, appointed treasurer of Lyman Mills. August 15, 1894, was married to Mary Mason Oliver; July 28, 1895, Susan Lawrence Parsons was born. Mrs. Parsons is not now living. Is a member of the Somerset, Myopia, Eastern Yacht, and New York Yacht clubs; vice-president and director of Union Bank, Boston (1896); director of Boston Manufacturers Mutual Insurance Co. (1899); trustee of Sailors Snug Harbor, Boston (1899); president of Arkwright Club, Boston (1900); trustee of Massachusetts Humane Society (1903); president of Wright Manufacturing Company (1909); director American Mutual Liability Insurance Company (1910). Address, 53 State Street, Boston.

GEORGE PEARSON, son of Johnson and Sarah Jane (Templeton) Pearson, was born in Mercer, Pa., April 3, 1850. Prepared for college at Haverford College, entering the Class in the Junior year. Admitted to practise law in the courts of Mercer County, Pa., December 9, 1872. Admitted to practise in the Supreme and Superior courts of Pennsylvania October 23, 1893. Practised as attorney at law at Mercer, Pa., firm of Johnson Pearson & Son, until appointment as prothonotary of Supreme Court; now resides in Pittsburg, Pa. Was clerk of the Pennsylvania Senate during the winters of 1876 and 1877; was reading clerk of the House of Representatives, 1881; reading clerk of the Senate, 1883; chief clerk of the House of Representatives, 1885; reëlected, session 1887, but resigned January 19, 1887, to accept appointment as private secretary of Governor James A. Beaver; was chief secretary of Republican State Committee during the years 1882–85 inclusive. On July 13, 1892, was appointed prothonotary of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania for the Western District at Pittsburg, Pa. On October 14, 1875, was married to Jessie Patton. Johnson Patton Pearson was born May 12, 1877, and died January 11, 1878; Helen Pearson was born March 13, 1879. Jessie Patton Pearson died June 2, 1889. On November 15, 1892, was married to Helen Hester Hume of Houlton, Me. Alice Hume Pearson was born September 1, 1893; Georgia Pearson was born January 21, 1906.

WILLARD SILSBEE PEELE. After graduation passed some time in travelling abroad; upon returning, went to his home in Beverly, Mass., where he has remained ever since.

FRANK KEY PENDLETON, son of George Hunt and Alice (Key) Pendleton, was born in Cincinnati, O., January 3, 1850. Was prepared for college by Eugene F. Bliss in Cincinnati. After graduation he travelled abroad for about three years, spending some time in studying French and German; on his return entered the Harvard Law School; after completing his course went to New York, where he practised law with Parrish ('70). The firm was dissolved in 1900, and he formed a partnership with E. Ellery Anderson, under the firm name of Anderson, Pendleton & Anderson, P. C. Anderson being the junior member. Parrish continued to have his office with new firm. June 24, 1885, married Sarah, daughter of Camille Marié of New York. Early in 1886 Mrs. Pendleton died of pneumonia. In December, 1890, married Elizabeth La Montagne. On August 9, 1895, a son was born. July, 1907, appointed Corporation Counsel of the city of New York and served until expiration of term, January, 1910. Autumn, 1909, nominated by Democrats for Judge of the Supreme Court of New York; defeated at election by combination of Republican and Hearst parties on local tickets. Address, 7 East 86th Street.

JAMES HANDASYD PERKINS died December 2, 1889. A sketch of Perkins's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

WILLARD TAYLOR PERRIN, son of Noah and Philenia W. (Stone) Perrin, was born in Cambridge, June 2, 1850. Prepared for college at the Cambridge High School. September 16, 1870, was appointed a sub-master in the Boston Latin School, where he taught during the school year; September 13, 1871, entered the School of Theology, Boston University, and was graduated May 27, 1874, with the degree of B. D.; in the summer of 1873 went to California with the United States Fish Commission; in April, 1874, was admitted to the New England Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and began preaching at Allston, Mass.; April 9, 1876, was ordained deacon by Bishop M. Simpson; and April 7, 1878, elder, by Bishop W. L. Harris; April 12, 1876, was stationed at Wilbraham, Mass., the seat of the Wesleyan Academy. Was married to L. Nellie Denton of West Newton April 12, 1876. In April, 1879, was stationed at the State Street Methodist Episcopal Church, Springfield, Mass., where he remained three years; since which time his appointments have been: April, 1882, to the Monument Square Church, Charlestown, Mass.; April, 1885, to the Trinity Church, Worcester, Mass.; and April, 1888, to the Worthen Street Church, Lowell, Mass., where he remained three years. In 1891 and 1892, Mr. and Mrs. Perrin spent over nine months abroad, visiting Great Britain, the continent of Europe, Greece, Constantinople, Egypt, and the Holy Land. In April, 1892, was appointed pastor of the St. John's Methodist Episcopal Church at South Boston, Mass. After a five years' pastorate in South Boston, April, 1897, was appointed pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Boston. April, 1899, was appointed pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, Dorchester, but in October, 1899, was appointed presiding elder of Boston District, which involves the oversight of sixty-three churches. In January, 1885, upon nomination by the Convocation of the Alumni, was elected their first representative upon the Board of Trustees of Boston University for the term of five years. Has been reëlected at the end of each term, and is now secretary of the board. In 1898 received the degree of Ph. D. from Boston University. Is president of the New England Deaconess Association. April, 1900, was elected a delegate to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church which met in May in Chicago; in April, 1905, appointed pastor of the Bromfield Street M. E. Church, Boston; in April, 1906, was transferred to the First Methodist Episcopal Church, Melrose, Mass., where he has just closed a delightful pastorate of four years. Although unanimously asked to remain, he and Mrs. Perrin felt the necessity of rest, and this year he is left without an appointment. Present address, 37 Beechcroft Road, Newton, Mass.

EDWARD RAWSON, son of Joseph and Mary Whiting (Richards) Rawson, was born in Cincinnati, June 5, 1849. Has been engaged in the pork-packing business in Cincinnati. October, 1871, became a member of the firm of J. Rawson & Son; in November, 1898, firm name changed to J. Rawson's Sons — still in the same line of business. Director and officer in several different corporations and industrial companies. June 5, 1879, was married to Clara Hobart of New York City. March 28, 1880, Hobart Rawson was born; June 27, 1883, Ethel Rawson was born, and died October 23, 1883; November 2, 1887, Edward Rawson, Jr., was born; February 24, 1890, Henry Lee Rawson was born, and died August 16, 1890; March 9, 1893, Dorothy Rawson was born; August 17, 1899, Marion Rawson was born. Edward Rawson, Jr., died March 27, 1907, of cerebro-spinal meningitis, while a member of the Sophomore Class of Harvard College. Present address, Care J. Rawson's Sons, Cincinnati.

*JAMES ROGERS RICH was born in Boston May 27, 1847. He died in Marblehead, Mass., where he had gone to pass the summer months, on July 17, 1910, in the sixty-fourth year of his age. He was prepared for college at the Boston Latin School, and entered Harvard College in the autumn of 1867, being graduated with the Class of 1870. He always had a strong love of the fine arts, and early in his life busied himself with pencil and brush. In the winter of his senior year he organized, with the permission of the faculty, a class for drawing from plaster models, and many of his classmates and members of other classes were glad to join him in the work. The class met in the south basement of University Hall, and was under the instruction of the late Virgil Williams of Boston, a well-known painter, who taught them two nights a week. Each member of the class paid his share of the expenses. It is stated in the Harvard Bulletin of February 17, 1909, that Rich was the first person to introduce at Harvard the study of fine arts.

After graduation Rich travelled in Europe, and passed three years in the study of architecture at the École des Beaux-Arts. In 1877 he first turned his attention to painting in oil, and in 1883 exhibited a picture at the Paris Salon of that year. Rich also sent pictures to be exhibited in Munich and in many home exhibitions; receiving a diploma for excellence of work at the International Exhibition at New Orleans. Upon his return to this country he established himself in apartments on Tremont Street, where he had his studio, going each summer to some place where he could find fitting subjects for his pictures. Subsequently he visited Egypt, and in 1895 he started upon a trip around the world. When he reached the Vale of Kashmir he was so impressed with the beauty of the country and the opportunities there for painting, that he spent seven summers in the Vale, passing the winters in India, in or about Agra. He painted many pictures of the different parts of the Vale of Kashmir, the Happy Valley as it is called, where he lived in camp, or in his houseboat, which he named Columbia. Here he may be said to have passed some of the happiest years of his life. While in India in the winters he devoted himself to painting the Taj Mahal at Agra, a building which he considered the "loveliest creation of man," painting it by sunlight, and also by the light of the moon. The former canvas received a special silver medal, never before awarded, from the India Government Exhibition of the Simla Fine Arts Society in 1901. These two pictures Rich considered among his best works, and he devoted to them a great deal of time and study.

During the latter part of his life Rich suffered from constant illness, but always with a brave spirit and indomitable pluck. He underwent several critical surgical operations with wonderful fortitude. The social side of life appealed to him strongly. He was a Mason of the 32d degree, and always found much pleasure and satisfaction in attending the meetings of his lodge. Although he never married, he greatly enjoyed the family life of his friends, and his keen appreciation of the humorous side of life and his high spirits were a source of pleasure to his friends, old and young.

FRANK WALCOTT ROBINSON, son of Frederic Richard and Clara Maria (Walcott) Robinson, was born in Boston September 23, 1848. He prepared for college at the Boston Latin School. After graduation went to St. Louis, Mo., remaining a year. Returning to Boston in September, 1871, entered the house of Jordan, Marsh & Co., remaining with them until October, 1886. On January 1, 1887, he was engaged by John H. Pray Sons & Co. of Boston. At the expiration of three years he went to St. Paul, Minn., with Finch, Van Slyck & Co., remaining four years. On May 1, 1894, he represented Clarence Whitman & Co. of New York, in Chicago. He returned East in 1895, and located in New York City, with Pottier & Stymus Co. Was next with William Baumgarten & Co., 323 Fifth Avenue, New York. On August 19, 1874, was married to Ada Byron O'Neal of Kirkwood, Mo. His children are: Ada Rachel, born August 23, 1875; Frank Walcott, born July 8, 1878, and died February 11, 1880; Helen Marion, born February 1, 1881; Harold Lloyd, born April 23, 1884; Alice Walcott, born May 20, 1886, died October 13, 1897. [No reply received.]

OTIS GRANVILLE ROBINSON, son of Frederic Richard and Clara Maria (Walcott) Robinson, was born in Taunton, Mass., September 25, 1846. He prepared for college at the Boston Latin School. For the past twenty-five years has been with the Jordan, Marsh Company of Boston as foreign buyer, going to Europe twice a year in the interests of the business.

*ALFRED RODMAN, son of Alfred and Anna Lothrop (Motley) Rodman, was born July 19, 1848, at "Riverdale," Dedham, Mass., then the home of his grandfather Thomas Motley. In 1850 his father bought an estate in Dedham and at the suggestion of his brother-in-law, John Lothrop Motley, the historian, named it "Tiota Wood," from Indian words signifying "Contentment." His father died when Alfred was but five years old, and his education devolved upon his mother. As a lad he went to Dixwell's day school for Boston boys, and later to a boarding-school, Mr. Miles's, in Brattleboro, Vt., where military drill was a part of the curriculum. Later he lived abroad for several years, in Paris mostly, with his mother and sister, and there he was prepared for college under a private tutor, — Carl Metzdorf, — a German who for many years made a specialty of preparing private pupils for Harvard in Paris and Berlin.

Classmates Roger Wolcott and Louis and Laurence Curtis were fellow pupils at the same time, and they all entered college as fresh Sophomores in 1867. After graduation in 1870, Rodman and Wadsworth went for a trip round the world, during which, by invitation of the Hon. William H. Seward, Rodman joined Mr. Seward's party, who were making the same tour. Thus he met Miss Harriet D. Risley of Washington, D. C., his future wife. He was married October 31, 1872, at Trinity Church, Fredonia, Chautauqua County, N. Y. A son Alfred — their only child — was born April 18, 1874, and survives him, as does also his widow. Rodman engaged in business pursuits until 1875, when he was obliged by ill health to go abroad for two years; on his return he began the study of law at the Boston University Law School, was graduated in June, 1879, with the degree of LL. B., was admitted to the Suffolk bar in 1879, and practised law in Boston till the summer of 1887, when he was elected actuary of the Bay State Trust Company of Boston, later becoming its vice-president, which office he filled until his resignation on January 1, 1910.

Rodman's health was never robust, and he was unable at college to engage in active athletic pursuits, though toward the end of his life he derived great enjoyment and probably profit during several years from playing golf. He found ample enjoyment in his business and social occupations, and in the care of his estate in Dedham, where, his house having been burned to the ground in the winter of 1907, he built another on an adjoining site, rearranged the grounds, gardens, and avenues, and lived to enjoy the new scenes for several years. There he died July 4, 1910, — suddenly at the end — of valvular trouble of the heart, from which he had long suffered. He had a refined intellect and enforced leisure to follow a course of instructive reading, and he possessed qualities which would have insured distinction in many ways but for the physical languor which so often made effort difficult. He bore his illness with resignation and fortitude. His body was cremated, and his ashes lie in Brookdale Cemetery, Dedham, where a boulder from his dearly loved "Tiota Wood" will mark the spot.

Dignity in appearance, refinement in bearing, integrity of conduct, gentleness in manner, and charity towards others in deed and in thought were characteristics which he inherited from a line of ancestors on both sides of his family, long distinguished by these qualities.

THOMAS MORGAN ROTCH was born in Philadelphia, December 9, 1849. His father's name was Rodman Rotch, and his mother was Miss Morgan, daughter of Thomas Waln Morgan of Philadelphia. He fitted for college under private tutors. Was graduated from Harvard College in 1870, and from the Harvard Medical School in 1874. In the spring of 1872 he was appointed assistant to the Surgeon for Out-Patients at the Massachusetts General Hospital; was House Physician of the Hospital from 1873 to 1874. Is author of an essay to which was awarded the first prize of the Boylston Medical Society in 1873; subject, "The Emigration of the White Corpuscle in Inflammation." Was married June 4, 1874, to Helen Rotch of New Bedford, Mass., and on May 21, 1878, Thomas Morgan Rotch, Jr., was born (died March 13, 1902). Went abroad in 1874, and after spending two years in Europe, studying in the hospitals, principally in Berlin, Vienna, and Heidelberg, returned to Boston and began to practise medicine October 1, 1876, at 121 Boylston Street. A list of Dr. Rotch's appointments and of his more important publications previous to 1905 was printed in the Class Report for that year. Since 1905 Dr. Rotch has published a large number of addresses and investigations, the latter including his work on Milk Laboratories, Intestinal Diseases, Blood Cultures, Gonorrhœa and Syphilis, and Pyloric Stenosis. He has also published a large number of papers on the determination of the development of children by means of Roentgen pictures of their hands. This work is intended to aid in the grading of children in the schools and also has a direct bearing on the question of child labor. This work, under Dr. Rotch's supervision, by request of the Secretary of the Navy, is being carried on at the Naval Academy at Annapolis for the purpose of grading the cadets. This work will probably lead to the systematic use of the Roentgen ray (X-Ray) in the public schools.

In 1910 Dr. Rotch published a large book on Living Anatomy and Pathology in the Diagnoses of Diseases in Early Life as accomplished by the Roentgen method. This book is very largely illustrated and deals with the development of children from birth.

JOHN WHITE SANGER, son of George Partridge and Elizabeth Sherburne (Thompson) Sanger, was born in Charlestown, Mass., June 10, 1848. Prepared for college at the Boston Latin School. From graduation until March 8, 1871, was with the John Hancock Insurance Company, Boston; from that time until January 1, 1875, was with Naylor & Co., dealers in iron, steel, etc., also of Boston; from 1877 to 1879 was in the insurance business in Worcester, Mass., in the offices of J. D. Washburn and A. N. Currier (general agent of the Lancashire Insurance Company of Manchester, Eng.); afterwards returned to Boston, and continued in the insurance business at 95 Water Street. For several years was actively interested in the militia of the State, and was assistant inspector-general on the First Brigade staff. Was married October 1, 1891, to Victoria Anne Garrette of Ipswich, Mass. In 1895 went to New York to engage in business as general agent in the publication of the "American Brewer," a monthly magazine devoted to the interests of the brewing industry of the United States and foreign countries; also in same capacity for the U. S. Brewers' Academy and Experimental Station connected therewith. From 1902 to 1909 was connected with the Pfaudler Company of Rochester, N. Y., manufacturers of glass-lined steel cooperage, as one of their New York representatives. January, 1909, his connection with the above company ceased. Present address, 21 Ridge Street, Orange, N. J.

JOSEPH SARGENT, son of Joseph and Emily (Whitney) Sargent, was born in Worcester, Mass., May 15, 1849. He was prepared for college at the Worcester High School. During the summer of 1870 travelled through California and Canada; was treasurer of the Crompton Carpet Company of Worcester, Mass., and agent of the Pakachog Mills of the same city; became a member of the firm of O. H. Sampson & Co. of Boston, August 15, 1884. For a number of years he spent his winters in Egypt or France, and his summers in Magnolia, Mass. December 5, 1872, was married to Nellie Louise McClure of New York. Their children are: Joseph Sargent, Jr., born January 13, 1874; Nellie Cushman Sargent, born February 12, 1876; George McClure Sargent, born January 15, 1878; Emily Whitney Sargent, born July 15, 1882. Sargent's health began to give way in 1908. Mrs. Sargent died in November, 1909, and from that time Sargent failed rapidly. He died March 11, 1910.

*LUCIUS MANLIUS SARGENT died November 14, 1893. A sketch of Sargent's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

WINTHROP SALTONSTALL SCUDDER, son of Charles William and Alicia Harriet (Blatchford) Scudder, was born in Brookline, Mass., July 24, 1847. Prepared for college at Mr. Dixwell's School, Boston. Spent most of the year 1866 travelling abroad, and joined the Class in the Sophomore year. After graduation was in the iron business with the Walworth Manufacturing Company of Boston for four years. Since 1875 has been in the publishing business, with Houghton Mifflin Company, Boston, and the Riverside Press, Cambridge, and has been at the head of their Art Department since 1886. Has delivered lectures on the reproductive arts in connection with book illustration. Was married April 11, 1888, to Caroline Townsend of Albany, N. Y. July 3, 1889, Theodore Townsend Scudder was born. Mrs. Scudder died July 10, 1889. Was married June 25, 1901, to Jeanette Sumner Markham of Cambridge, Mass. Address, 4 Willard Street, Cambridge.

OSCAR FITZALLAN SEAVEY. From Auburn, Cal., under date of May 8, 1910, Seavey writes: —

"Since my last report I have taught one term of school. Am still a member of the County Board of Education and still its president. Since October, 1906, have been connected with the 'Placer Herald,' the oldest paper in the State, as writer and reporter. Am in the race for County Auditor, with a fair chance for election. Have been for several years connected with a company prospecting the famous 'Mother' lode; but, to use the phrase of an old miner friend, we have n't 'struckt' it yet.

"On June 15, 1908, my youngest son, Ralph Graydon, died of appendicitis. Do not remember mentioning the cause of death of the other three children who have crossed the 'dark river,' but will, if it be not amiss, state it now: Marjorie Ruth was drowned in the South Yuba Canal April 25, 1890; Harold Granville died of congestion of the brain May 7, 1892; Alice Mabel was drowned in the American River August 11, 1894.

"In September, 1895, it was my privilege to pass a few hours in the College Yard, to tread again the well-remembered walks across the campus, and to look into Hollis 1. I assure you not a minute was lost. I cannot express my feelings on that occasion or my thankfulness. I realized to the full the force and effect of Virgil's words, forsan et haec olim meminisse juvabit. It was to me a Red-Letter day.

"I may, but at present it is almost too much to hope for, meet with the boys at the reunion in June. If I fail to be there, kindly convey to them my regret and my earnest wish that the day may be an ideal one and that the meet may be enjoyed by all the other boys of '70."

CHAUNCEY COOLEY SHELDON was born in Waterville, Me., December 11, 1848. Prepared for college in the Waterville schools. After graduation taught school for about four years; in October, 1874, entered the Harvard Medical School; in July, 1876, became house officer at the Boston City Hospital, and in January, 1878, at the Boston Lying-in Hospital. Received the degree of M. D. in June, 1877; is a member of the Massachusetts Medical Society; is practising in Lynn, Mass., where he has been city physician; for several years has been superintendent of the Lynn Hospital, as well as a member of the visiting staff; is a member of the Oxford Club. On June 5, 1880, was married to May L. Firth of Boston; on July 10, 1881, Louisa Sheldon was born, and on September 18, 1884, she died; July 17, 1885, Russell Firth Sheldon was born. Russell F. Sheldon took his A. B. in 1907, and is now finishing his third year at the Harvard Medical School. Sheldon is president of the Lynn Harvard Club. Address, 73 No. Common Street, Lynn, Mass.

WALTER SHEPARD, son of Hiram and Mary Swan (Munroe) Shepard, was born in Dorchester, Mass., March 1, 1849. Was prepared for college at the Dorchester High and Boston Latin schools. Studied civil engineering for two years at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, receiving the degree of S. B. in February, 1873; since June, 1872, has been in the employ of the Boston and Albany Railroad Company, with the exception of about a year, when he was employed as assistant engineer on the Brookline (Mass.) Water-Works. Was appointed chief engineer of the above-named railroad company October 1, 1894; and consulting engineer, May 1, 1908. Was married December 15, 1875, to Sarah Elizabeth Austin. Mrs. Shepard died February 10, 1886, leaving one child, Russell Austin Shepard, born February 19, 1885. Russell died May 16, 1897. Was married November 22, 1897, to Mary Adeline Faught. Dorothy Shepard was born September 14, 1898, and Winthrop Russell Shepard, January 31, 1901. Residence, 79 Bloomfield Street, Dorchester, Mass.

*BARKER BAKER SHERMAN died May 2, 1904. A sketch of Sherman's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

SANDFORD SIDNEY SMITH, son of Augustus Fitzalan and Lucy Ann (Elliot) Smith, was born in New York City April 15, 1849. Prepared for college at Phillips Exeter Academy. In October, 1870, entered the Columbia College Law School, N. Y.; was graduated May 15, 1872, receiving the degree of LL. B.; June 14, 1872, was admitted as attorney and counsellor at law to practise in all the courts of record of the State of New York; January 1, 1873, became a partner in the law firm of Martin & Smith, New York; July 1, 1877, formed a partnership with his two brothers, Elliot and Howard A., under the firm name of Elliot & S. Sidney Smith; during December, 1877, and January, made a trip to the Bermudas for his health. Was married on June 3, 1873, to Katharine V. Toffey, of Cambridge, Mass. On May 24, 1876, Emily Atkinson Smith was born; died May 27, 1876; on February 15, 1880, Julia Pratt Smith was born. In 1883 travelled for five months in Europe with Walter T. Winsor. May 19, 1884, Mrs. Smith died; July 1, 1886, married his cousin Edith, daughter of the late George J. Cornell. On July 5, 1888, Philip Sidney Smith was born, and died June 5, 1905. In 1890 was elected treasurer of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, and aided, as chairman of the building committee, in the planning and construction of the library and clubhouse, erected in 1895 and 1896, at 43d and 44th streets, New York; in June, 1893, was elected to the Board of Trustees of the Phillips Exeter Academy, the school at which he fitted for college; since June, 1903, has been president of the board. Since 1900 a trustee of the Society for the Relief of the Ruptured and Crippled, chairman of its Executive Committee, and now a vice-president. Clubs: Century, University, Harvard, Down Town, Bar Association, Ausable, and Balsam Lake. Address, 59 Wall Street, New York.

WALTER BUGBEE SMITH, son of Albert William and Lucy Jane (Bugbee) Smith, was born in Boston September 23, 1847. He was prepared for college at the Brookline, Mass., High School. Until February, 1872, studied engineering at the Lawrence Scientific School and in the office of Channing Whitaker, M. E., at Lowell, Mass.; January 1, 1873, entered the engineer's office of the Texas and Pacific Railroad Company, at Marshall, Tex.; in the following October entered the draughting-room of the Southwark Foundry, Philadelphia, where he remained about two years; from October, 1877, till June, 1879, was at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology as first assistant in mechanical engineering; from October, 1879, to May, 1881, was in the office of Henry G. Morris in Philadelphia; in May, 1881, opened an office in Philadelphia as a mechanical engineer and contractor, and continued the business to March, 1897. His business consisted principally of contracting for iron structures; the largest works undertaken being the stand-pipe for the Spring Garden Water Works, Philadelphia, and the iron work of the buildings of the Franklin Sugar Refinery and the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company, Philadelphia, and the Academic Building at West Point, N. Y. For four years he was the engineer of the Steward & Stevens Iron Works, structural and architectural ironworkers, Philadelphia. In November, 1905, he was appointed an inspector of the Bureau of Building Inspection, Philadelphia, Pa., which position he still holds. On June 20, 1874, was married, at Buffalo, N. Y., to Helen Elizabeth Morey. He has had three children: Margaret White Smith, born January 19, 1876, died June 4, 1887; Lucy Augusta Smith, born August 19, 1878; Walter Winthrop Smith, born July 7, 1885.

JAMES RUSSELL SOLEY, son of John James and Elvira Margaret Codman (Dégen) Soley, was born in Boston October 1, 1850. He was prepared for college at the Roxbury Latin School. Soley was appointed assistant professor in the United States Naval Academy October 1, 1871. A sketch of his life during his connection with the Navy, and of his principal publications during that period, is printed in the Class Report for 1905. In 1893 Soley engaged in the practice of law in New York as a member of the firm of Tracy, Boardman & Platt. He subsequently was a member of the firm of Boardman, Platt & Soley, and since the dissolution of that firm in September, 1906, has continued practice with offices at 26 Exchange Place. Is a member of the Harvard Club of New York, Union Club, University Club, The Brook, Metropolitan Club of Washington, Alibi Club of Washington, Shinnecock Golf Club, Bar Association of the City of New York, United States Naval Institute, American Historical Association, American Social Science Association, and is vice-president of the Navy League, and one of the board of trustees of the Institution for the Blind. December 1, 1875, was married to Mary Woolsey Howland. March 9, 1877, Una Felice Soley was born; December 7, 1880, Robert Shaw Howland Soley was born (died November 25, 1881); March 15, 1883, Mary Woolsey Soley was born. Address 26 Exchange Place, New York.

*RICHARD HERMAN SOULE, son of Richard and Harriet (Winsor) Soule, was born in Boston, March 4, 1849. He prepared for college at the Brookline, Mass., High School. After graduation, studied mechanical engineering for two years at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, receiving the degree of S. B. M. E.; was engaged in civil engineering, in connection with the Boston Water-Works, in the fall of 1872, and in the following January became connected with the Southwark Foundry, Philadelphia, where he was assistant superintendent; in September, 1875, entered the service of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, in the office of its mechanical engineer, Altoona, Pa., and in November, 1877, was transferred to the department of tests and experiments at the Altoona shops. May 1, 1879, was appointed superintendent of motive power for the various railroads of the Pennsylvania system, with headquarters at Baltimore, Md. October 15, 1881, superintendent of motive power, Philadelphia and Erie Division, Pennsylvania Railroad; office at Williamsport, Pa. June 1, 1882, superintendent of motive power, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, and St. Louis Railroad; office at Columbus, O. June 1, 1883, superintendent of motive power, New York, West Shore, and Buffalo Railway; office at Frankfort, N. Y. December 15, 1885, superintendent of motive power, New York, Lake Erie, and Western Railroad; office at Buffalo, N. Y. February 15, 1887, general manager New York, Lake Erie, and Western Railroad; office at New York City. April 30, 1888, resigned, and took a six months' holiday, three of which he spent abroad. October, 1888, located at Pittsburg, Pa., in connection with the Westinghouse interests. June, 1891, to July 1, 1897, superintendent of motive power, Norfolk and Western Railroad, Roanoke, Va.; August, 1897, to December, 1899, with the Baldwin Locomotive Works of Philadelphia, during the first year travelling in their interest in South Africa and Russia; subsequently representing them at Chicago, Ill.

In May, 1900, Soule opened an office in New York, as consulting mechanical engineer, with a specialty of railway problems. By the end of that year he had built up a large and apparently permanent connection, with brilliant prospects of usefulness and income. But about Christmas, 1900, he was brought down with serious kidney trouble, dating back to a rupture while he was pitcher on the University Nine during his Junior year in college, and aggravated by mistaken medical treatment in later years. From 1900 to 1904 he remained in New York under medical care, undergoing four serious surgical operations in as many years, but trying to take up his professional work in the intervals between operations. He was finally forced to give up business entirely, and took up his residence in Brookline. Being forbidden by his physician to give any thought to serious professional work, he found occupation in the advanced study of harmony, and had nearly finished a series of charts which he hoped would be useful to students of the subject.

In spite of the handicap caused by the deep-rooted disease against which he had to struggle for so many years, he lived a brave and hopeful life and won success and distinction in his chosen profession. His eminence in his special work was recognized by his election in March, 1906, to the Corporation of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The last years of his life were marked by cheerfulness and a courageous acceptance of the situation. The ready humor and contagious laugh, characteristic of his youth, remained with him to the last. He was an enthusiastic Harvard man, much interested in his Class and in the University, and had a boyish delight in the outdoor games at the Stadium. The final breakdown came about the middle of November, 1908; he sank by degrees, and died December 13, 1908.

Soule married, April 13, 1882, Ida Whittemore of Brookline, Mass., and had two sons, Winsor (Harvard, 1906) and Augustus Whittemore (Harvard, 1906). Was a member of the following clubs: the New York Railroad Club, the Western Railway Club of Chicago, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the Master Mechanics' Association, and the Master Car Builders' Association.

WILLIAM MASTER SPACKMAN, son of Samuel Cope and Ann (Master) Spackman, was born in Philadelphia, January 9, 1847. Was graduated in 1864 at the Philadelphia High School, and afterwards prepared for college, joining the Class in the Sophomore year. For six months after graduation studied in the Episcopal Divinity School at Philadelphia; on January 1, 1871, became private secretary to Mr. J. Edgar Thomson, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, at Philadelphia, which position he filled until the death of Mr. Thomson, in May, 1874; is one of the trustees of his estate. Studied law for two years in the University of Philadelphia, and was admitted to the bar, but does not practise. In 1881 removed with his family to New York, to assume a position as treasurer of the Mexican National and other railroad corporations. Has since been occupied in business in New York, chiefly in the charge of several estates. Is a member of the Harvard and Century clubs of New York. Address, No. 820 Madison Avenue, New York. Married November 18, 1875, Margaret Livingston Swift, and has one child, Emily Swift Spackman, born February 20, 1878.

*CHARLES PARKER SPALDING died March 25, 1895. A sketch of Spalding's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

HENRY KITTREDGE SPAULDING, son of Benjamin Franklin and Mary (Fearing) Spaulding, was born in Tewksbury, Mass., December 25, 1847. Prepared for college at Phillips Andover Academy, and joined the Class in the Sophomore year. Studied law in a Boston office until December, 1870, when he took charge of the Concord (Mass.) High School, where he remained until June, 1872; in September he entered the Columbia Law School, New York; was graduated, with the degree of LL. B., May, 1875; was admitted to the bar May 17, 1875, and practised in the office of J. H. & B. F. Watson, New York, until August, 1876, when he went to San Francisco; was admitted to the bar of State of California and practised there for three years with Judge Thompson, then with Colonel C. E. Royce, and afterwards in the office of Stephen H. Phillips, Esq.; he returned to New York in 1880. For ten years (1886–1896) he was an assistant teacher in the school for boys established and conducted by Arthur H. Cutler ('70). In 1896 he became a member of the examining board of the Municipal Civil Service Commission of New York City, serving until April, 1904. He was married to Eunice A. Ladd of Lowell, Mass., December 27, 1883. Is now connected with the State Infirmary at Tewksbury, Mass. Address, Tewksbury, Mass.

RICHARD HENRY STONE was born in Cincinnati, O., October 4, 1847. Studied in the Law School of the Cincinnati College until April 18, 1872, when he was graduated, receiving the degree of LL. B.; practised law in Cincinnati for some years; was then obliged, on account of trouble with his eyes, to give up the practice of his profession; he then took up railroad engineering, in which he was engaged in the West for three or four years. Address, corner of Hosea Avenue and Prospect Terrace, Cincinnati, O.

ROGER WILLIAMS SWAIM died April 1, 1872. A sketch of Swaim's life was published in the Class Report for 1905.

CHARLES HERBERT SWAN, son of Robert and Lucy Thaxter (Cushing) Swan, was born in Dorchester, Mass., September 8, 1847. Prepared for college at the Boston Latin School. Practises law in Boston; married Caroline Metcalf Nazro of Dorchester, November 6, 1884; Lucy Cushing Swan was born March 5, 1886; Gardner Swan was born November 29, 1887, graduated at Harvard, 1909. Swan is a member of the University Club. Residence, Jamaica Plain, Mass. Address, Old South Building, Boston.

STEPHEN SWIFT TAFT, son of Velorous and Lucy (Bennett) Taft, was born in Upton, Mass., October 9, 1848. He was fitted for college at Phillips Andover Academy. In August, 1870, commenced reading law with Staples & Goulding, Worcester, Mass.; October 9, with Jewell, Gaston & Field, Boston; October 7, 1871, entered the Harvard Law School; admitted to the bar April 23, 1872. Was a member of the State Legislature in 1886 and 1887. He removed to Springfield November 5, 1891, where he has since practised. Was City Solicitor of Springfield for the year 1907, and in the fall of 1907 was elected District Attorney for the Western District of Massachusetts. Offices, 235 and 236 Court Square Theatre Building, Springfield, Mass. On October 23, 1873, was married to Mary Eliot Holbrook of Watertown, Mass., and on July 24, 1874, Mabel Eliot Taft was born; Lucy Bennett Taft, September 5, 1875, and Stephen S. Taft, Jr., September 2, 1876 (Harvard, 1898).

STEPHEN VAN RENSSELAER THAYER died October 10, 1871. A sketch of Thayer's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

THOMAS BALDWIN TICKNOR, son of William Davis and Emeline Staniford (Holt) Ticknor, was born in Jamaica Plain, Mass., November 8, 1848. Prepared for college at Chauncy Hall School, Boston. Since graduation has been in the publishing business with Houghton Mifflin Company of Boston and their predecessors. Office at the Riverside Press, Cambridge. From November, 1874, to February 6, 1899, was connected with the First Corps Cadets, M. V. M., and is now on the retired list with rank of major. Is a member of the Oakley Country Club; the Footlight Club, Jamaica Plain, of which he was president for twenty years; the Cambridge Social Dramatic Club; the Cambridge Boat Club; the Cambridge Club; the Episcopalian Club of Boston; and the Veteran Association of the First Corps Cadets; is vestryman of Christ Church, Cambridge. Was married January 10, 1894, to Florence Elizabeth Harris of Boston. Residence, 18 Highland Street, Cambridge.

ALFRED TUCKERMAN, son of Lucius and Eliza Wolcott (Gibbs) Tuckerman, was born January 15, 1848. He was in Europe from July, 1870, till September, 1874, passing most of the time in study; received the degrees of Ph. D. et A. M. from Leipsic, Germany, in 1874; in November, 1877, became a regular assistant in the Astor Library, New York, having been a volunteer assistant for a year before. On December 10, 1879, was married to Clara L. Fargis, of New York. He resigned his position in the Astor Library in 1880, after having served there four years, with four promotions. After that he turned his attention to the compilation of indexes to scientific literature, which has been his occupation ever since. A list of the more important of Tuckerman's publications, including his Index to the Literature of the Spectroscope and to that of the Chemical Influence of Light, was printed in the Class Report for 1905. Tuckerman writes: —

"Have just been appointed Chairman of the Committee on Descriptive Bibliographies, in the American Chemical Society; also Historian, in charge of the archives, of this society. There is still an occasional demand for the Index to the Spectroscope, and for the Chemical Influence of Light." Residence, 342 West 57th Street, New York.

WILLIAM WARREN VAUGHAN, son of William Manning and Anne T. (Warren) Vaughan, was born in Hallowell, Me., April 25, 1848. He passed the year of 1870–71 abroad, one half of it at the University of Heidelberg. Took the regular course of two years in the Harvard Law School, receiving the degree of LL. B.; also received the degree of A. M. from the Academic Council of Harvard, upon examination on law subjects after an additional course at the Law School, June, 1874, and was admitted to the bar November, 1874. Has continued in the practice of the law, with special attention to trusts and wills. Has contributed various articles to "Harvard Magazine," "The Nation," etc. His activity in public matters has been chiefly in the movement for the reform of the Civil Service, in which he has worked for nearly thirty years as member and officer of the Massachusetts, and National Leagues. Office, Rooms 1001 to 1003 Exchange Building, 53 State Street, Boston. On October 16, 1882, was married to Ellen Twisleton Parkman, daughter of the late Dr. Samuel Parkman of Boston. Has two children: Mary Eliot Vaughan, born March 1, 1884, and Samuel Vaughan (Harvard, 1909), born April 15, 1887. Residence, 354 Beacon Street, Boston.

FREDERIC HENRY VIAUX, son of Edouard Henri Joachim and Sarah Russell (March) Viaux, was born May 24, 1848. He was prepared for college at the Boston Latin School. Founded the Real Estate Exchange of Boston in 1888–89, and has been its treasurer and executive officer since its organization. On June 18, 1873, was married to Florence Ballou Farrar of Boston. On June 8, 1874, Victor Viaux, and on July 16, 1875, Theodore Viaux were born; Theodore died May 1, 1876. Florence Viaux was born June 16, 1878; and Frederic Viaux on August 10, 1882. Victor Viaux graduated from Harvard in 1896 and Frederic in 1904. Address, Room 521, 53 State Street, Boston.

WILLIAM AUSTIN WADSWORTH, son of William Wolcott and Emmeline (Austin) Wadsworth, was born in Geneseo, N. Y., December 8, 1847. He studied at private schools and under tutors, in this country and abroad, preparing for college with Mr. Abbot and Samuel Eliot; he joined the Class in September, 1867, Sophomore year. After graduation entered the University of Berlin; returned to this country in the spring of 1872, and is living at Geneseo, N. Y., devoting his attention to farming. He has taken an active interest in local and state affairs, and has served on numerous boards and commissions; is a member of the American Geographical Society, American Zoölogical Society, Century Association, and numerous clubs in New York and Boston; was a member of Company I, 2d Massachusetts Volunteer Militia, and the Independent Corps of Cadets. During the war with Spain was major and quartermaster, U. S. Volunteers, on General Merritt's staff. The following extract from a letter to the secretary refers to his service in the army: —

I cannot think of anything in my army life that would interest the members of the Class. It was very hard work and very important work, but I got through successfully, and we had no trouble. I was on General Merritt's staff, and had charge of selecting and equipping the transports which took the army across the Pacific. We took these men from a cold climate into the tropics on a thirty days' voyage without overcrowding, and landed them without loss. At Cavite I had charge of unloading the vessels and forwarding the supplies to the front. It was no picnic, on account of bad weather and the utter lack of facilities, but the troops did not need for any essentials of food, clothes, ammunition, hospital supplies, etc.

After the capture of Manila, I stayed with General Merritt at headquarters till he left, and then with General Otis, until the settling down to monotonous garrison work.

Was married September 4, 1901, to Elizabeth Greene Perkins; has one child, William Perkins Wadsworth, born September 16, 1906. Address, Geneseo, Livingston Co., N. Y.

LUCIEN AUGUSTUS WAIT, son of Norval Douglas and Marion Sarah (Willson) Wait, was born in Highgate, Vt., February 8, 1846. He prepared for college at Phillips Exeter Academy and joined the Class Sophomore year. Was connected with Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., continuously after graduation; was assistant professor of mathematics until June, 1877, when he was promoted to be associate professor and given business charge of the mathematical department; in 1891 he was promoted to a full professorship; in 1876 started Cascadilla School, which is the leading private preparatory school for Cornell University. Was abroad one year as United States Consul at Piræus and Athens, Greece. Spent the summer of 1882 studying mathematics at Cambridge, England. Is a member of the American Mathematical Society, and served as a member of the Council (the governing board) for two periods of three years each. August 12, 1873 was married to Anna J. Dolloff of Exeter, N. H. Mrs. Wait died October 21, 1904. On July 5, 1874, at Athens, Greece, Olga Athene Wait was born; on February 27, 1876, Alice Wait was born; and on December 23, 1888, Zeta Wait was born, who died on October 27, 1889. June 7, 1906, married Mrs. Adaline E. Prentiss. Sailed June 25, 1910, for a "perpetual vacation," being now Professor Emeritus at Cornell. Will spend the coming year in Europe, and the following year in the Orient, visiting Australia, New Zealand, India, China, Japan, and the Philippines. Expects to reach San Francisco in June, 1912.

CHARLES HOSMER WALCOTT died April 25, 1901. A sketch of Walcott's life was published in the Class Report for 1905.

BENJAMIN MARSTON WATSON, son of Benjamin Marston and Mary (Russell) Watson, was born in Plymouth, Mass., November 24, 1848. He prepared for college at the Plymouth High School. Was for some time engaged in horticulture at Plymouth, Mass.; since 1877 has been instructor in horticulture at the Bussey Institution at Jamaica Plain, and has been Professor Goodale's assistant in the summer classes in botany at Cambridge. Address, Jamaica Plain, Mass.

HENRY WELLS, son of Jacob and Fannie Smith (Shaw) Wells, was born in Rising Sun, Ind., March 12, 1850. After graduation engaged in the dry-goods business in his native town. Was principally engaged in banking until the latter part of 1902, holding office in banks in Indiana, Illinois, and Massachusetts. On May 22, 1872, was married to Emma C. Morse of Rising Sun, Ind. On February 25, 1873, James Claude Wells was born; on December 25, 1878, Henry Morse Wells was born. Address, Riegelsville, Pennsylvania.

MELVILLE MOORE WESTON died December 25, 1901. A sketch of Weston's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

WILLIAM FISHER WHARTON, son of William Craig and Nancy Willing (Spring) Wharton, was born in Jamaica Plain, Mass., in 1847. After graduation studied law at the Harvard Law School, and received the degree of LL. B. in 1873. Was admitted to the bar the same year. Travelled in Europe for a couple of years, returning to Boston in the autumn of 1875, where he entered immediately upon the practice of the law. In 1881 he edited the seventh edition of "Story on Partnership." Was a member of the Common Council of the city of Boston for five years, from 1880 to 1884 inclusive, and a member of the House of Representatives of the General Court of Massachusetts, representing a portion of the city of Boston for four years, 1885 to 1888 inclusive, holding the position of chairman of the Judiciary Committee in 1888. He declined a reëlection in 1889. Was appointed Assistant Secretary of State of the United States by President Harrison in April, 1889, which position he resigned March 4, 1893. In May of that year he returned to Boston, and resumed the practice of the law in that city. He now lives in Groton, Mass., having his law office in Boston at No. 50 State Street. Was married October 31, 1877, to Fanny Pickman of Beverly, Mass., who died October 6, 1880. Was again married, February 10, 1891, to Susan C. Lay of Washington, D. C. Has two sons and one daughter: William P. Wharton, born August 12, 1880; Philip Wharton, born August 13, 1892; and Constance Wharton, born May 7, 1894.

JOHN STUART WHITE was born in Wrentham, Mass., February 3, 1847. Prepared for college at the Boston Latin School, before entering which he had served in the Civil War, in the 42d Regiment, Massachusetts Volunteer Militia, in 1864, when seventeen years old. Appointed sub-master in the Boston Latin School in July, 1870; elected master in December, 1870; taught three years, and in 1873 was voted a year's leave of absence by the Latin School Committee (from July, 1873), to be spent in Europe in travel and the study of schools and methods; on returning from Europe in 1874, accepted the headmastership of the Brooks School, Cleveland, O. Remained in Cleveland six years, 1874 to 1880; received the degree of LL. D. from Trinity College June, 1879; removed to New York in 1880, to establish the Berkeley School, preparatory for the leading universities.

Author of "The Boys' and Girls' Plutarch," 1885; "Herodotus," 1886; "Pliny," 1887 (G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York). Married in Boston, February 28, 1871, to Georgie A. Read of Boston. Children: Eliot White, born in Boston February 20, 1872, graduated from Harvard, magna cum laude, in Class of '92; Grace Rogers White, born in Dresden, Germany, March 20, 1874, entered Vassar College, 1891; Ernest Devereux White, born in Cleveland, O., September 12, 1876, entered Harvard University 1894. His college course was interrupted through rheumatic fever; he reëntered Harvard in 1901, and graduated cum laude in 1904; Gilbert Newman White, born in New York City, September 18, 1887, and entered Harvard June, 1907.

In September, 1904, Dr. White resigned his work in the Berkeley School, N. Y., after twenty-four years, and established the "Phillips Brooks School" in Philadelphia.

In 1907 Dr. White lost his son Ernest by pneumonia, and the following year his daughter Grace by consumption; and, by advice of physicians, incorporated his school (The Phillips Brooks) and removed to London, to take up (for a time at least) an entirely new work — that of selling mining properties and patent rights, in which he has met with eminent success. Address, 34 Bloomsbury Square, London, England.

CHARLES BOWDITCH WILBY, son of Joseph H. and Mary Hunt (Hinman) Wilby, was born in Cincinnati, O., November 8, 1848. He was prepared for college in private schools in Cincinnati. From September, 1870, until June, 1871, was engaged in teaching in Cincinnati, as assistant in the Classical School of Mr. Eugene F. Bliss of '58; in October, 1870, entered the Cincinnati Law School, received its degree of LL. B. April 17, 1872, and April 18, 1872, was admitted to the bar of Hamilton County, O. In September, 1872, opened an office in Cincinnati; in September, 1876, formed a partnership with Gustavus H. Wald, Yale '73, Harvard Law School '75, under the firm name of Wilby & Wald, which firm continued until its dissolution by the death of Mr. Wald, June 28, 1902. Wilby is now practising with his son. On June 3, 1879, was married to Harriet Elizabeth Mitchell of Cincinnati. Has four children: Mitchell, Harvard, A. B. '03, LL. B. '05, born April 13, 1880; Martha Coffin, born June 22, 1881; Mary Hinman, born November 7, 1882; Joseph Clark, A. B. Harvard, '10, born July 8, 1887. Address, Blymyer Building, 514 Main Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

GRINNELL WILLIS, son of Nathaniel Parker and Cornelia (Grinnell) Willis, was born in New York April 28, 1848. He was prepared for college by Mr. William P. Atkinson of Cambridge, Mass. In October, 1870, entered the commission house of Almy & Co. of New York; on January 1, 1873, the firm was dissolved, and became Lewis Brothers & Co., with whom he remained until August, 1875, when he moved to Philadelphia, joining the branch of the same firm in that city; in the spring of 1879 he returned to the New York office, taking charge of the accounts of the Wamsutta Mills; travelled abroad in the summer of 1872. December 15, 1889, started business for himself under the firm name of Grinnell Willis & Co. On October 24, 1874, was married to Mary Baker Haydock of New York. On December 31, 1875, Hannah Haydock Willis, on August 28, 1877, Cornelia Grinnell Willis, and on July 24, 1879, Joseph Grinnell Willis were born. Residence, Morristown, N. J. Business address, Grinnell Willis & Co., 44–46 Leonard Street, New York.

*WALTER THAXTER WINSOR died January 29, 1905. A sketch of Winsor's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

*ROGER WOLCOTT died December 21, 1900. A sketch of Wolcott's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

*CHARLES FULLER WOODARD, son of Abram and Jane (Fuller) Woodard, was born in Bangor, Maine, April 19, 1848. He entered College from Phillips Exeter Academy in 1866, and without apparent effort took and held very high rank as a scholar, his general percentage being 88 for the four years' work. From College he went to the Harvard Law School, taking the degree of LL. B. in the summer of 1872; returning to Bangor, he went into the office of Peters & Wilson and was admitted to practice in October, 1872. After practising alone for a short time, he formed, with Hon. Franklin A. Wilson, the partnership of Wilson & Woodard, which was continued until 1890. Woodard never held any political office. Working steadily at his chosen profession, he eventually became one of the leaders of the Penobscot bar, and his services were sought by large interests. For a number of years he acted as general counsel for the Maine Central Railroad.

In the latter part of the year 1906 he was seriously ill with pneumonia. While convalescent he was appointed a Justice of the Supreme Court of Maine, to succeed Justice Emery, who had been appointed to the seat left vacant by the death of Chief Justice Wiswell. The appointment came to Woodard as a surprise, while his physical condition was such that there was some hesitation about notifying him. The oath of office was administered in his room at home. Although he did some consultation work, Woodard could not take up the active duties of his new position until June, 1907, when he took his seat with the Law Court at Bangor. The exertion of two days' work proved too great, and was followed by a relapse, from which he did not recover. He died at his home in Bangor Monday, June 17, 1907. Memorial exercises for Justice Woodard were held in the Supreme Court chambers at Bangor, June 4, 1908, and appropriate resolutions were presented. These were accepted by Chief Justice Emery, who, after a feeling tribute to his past associate, ordered that the resolutions be inscribed upon the records of the Court.

Woodard married October 8, 1872, Miss Carrie Varney of Bangor, who survives him; on May 19, 1874, Charles Woodard was born, and died May 7, 1876; on July 28, 1885, John V. Woodard, A. B. Harvard, 1907, was born.

*FRANCIS JESSE WORCESTER, son of Taylor Gilman (Harvard A. B. 1823), and Lucy S. (Bell) Worcester, was born in Hollis, N. H., November 1, 1848, the youngest of seven children. Worcester's father was educated for the ministry, but left the pulpit because of failing health, and spent the remainder of his life as a farmer, occasionally fitting boys for college.

One of Worcester's uncles, Joseph Emerson Worcester, was the well-known lexicographer.

On his mother's side Worcester was descended in a direct line from Thomas Dudley, early colonial governor of Massachusetts.

Worcester's preparation for college was begun at home. At fifteen he entered the old academy in New Ipswich, N. H., where he acted as a teacher before his graduation. He entered college with the Freshman Class in September, 1866, and was graduated with high rank. After graduation Worcester taught school for a few years, and in 1873 entered the Columbia Law School. In 1875 he was admitted to the bar of New York State. He continued a resident of New York during the rest of his life. Worcester took an active interest in politics, and in 1897 was elected a judge of the Municipal Court of the City of New York, being one of the few Republican candidates of that year who was so honored. In this capacity he served a term of ten years, but failed of reëlection in 1907. Worcester's service upon the bench was highly creditable. Even his political adversaries recognized his fairness, and admitted that his example raised the standard of candidates for the New York bench.

Worcester served with distinction on the commission to revise the practice in the municipal courts and did much toward abolishing the graft and other evils which had grown up in their administration. He resumed private practice in 1907.

In the spring of 1910 Worcester was appointed a delegate to the International Conference of the Swedenborgian Church to be held in London in July, and he sailed June 25, with his wife and sister. As a delegate for New York City he took an active part in the proceedings of the convention. Two weeks after his arrival in England he was prostrated by a heavy cold followed by pneumonia, and he died in London July 29, 1910. His ashes were committed to earth in his native town of Hollis, N. H., August 12, 1910. Classmates Cutler, Huntress, and Spaulding attended the funeral. On the 6th of November a memorial service was held in the Swedenborgian Church in New York City, at which the Rev. Julian K. Smyth paid tribute to Worcester's high character and sterling qualities. A great company of friends and associates bore testimony to Worcester's high standing as a citizen, lawyer, and judge.

Worcester married Emma A. Hoe December 7, 1880, and had one child, Lucy Hoe Worcester, born January 23, 1883. His home was for many years at 462 West 144th Street, where he dispensed generous hospitality to his classmates and other Harvard men.

JAMES BOSLEY NOEL WYATT, son of William Edward and Margaret (Noel) Wyatt, was born in Baltimore, Md., May 3, 1847. He prepared for college at private schools and with a tutor. Studied architecture in Boston and Paris, and is now practising his profession in Baltimore, Md.; was a member of the firm of Wyatt & Sperry; is now a member of the firm of Wyatt & Nolting. Was president of the Harvard Club of Maryland and of the Architectural Club of Baltimore; was instrumental in establishing a course of lectures at the Johns Hopkins University, delivered by men distinguished in the profession, and open to the public. Was secretary of the Baltimore City Art Commission, is one of the directors of the Municipal Art Society, and has been a member of the Maryland State Board of Health. The new court house, designed by Wyatt & Nolting, is the largest and most expensive public building in the State of Maryland, and is considered one of the finest municipal buildings of the country. Is one of the Advisory Board of three (with Frederick Law Olmstead and Walter Cook, all Harvard men) for the development of "Homewood," the new site for the Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, — a permanent board to act as council with the trustees. Has delivered illustrated lectures before the University Club of Baltimore, and at the Johns Hopkins University, on "Architectural Style: its Real Significance," and other subjects. Has just been made one of the board of directors of the "National Housing Association," to represent Baltimore and Maryland. His firm has also designed the Maryland State Institution for Tuberculosis Patients; Maryland State Institution for Insane at "Springfield," first group of buildings, and the Fifth Regiment (Maryland N. G.) Armory in Baltimore. Address, Club Road, Roland Park, Baltimore, Md.

TEMPORARY MEMBERS

*GEORGE ASHTON BADGER, son of Samuel Augustus and Caroline Harriet (Goodrich) Badger, was born in Portsmouth, N. H., October 4, 1848. He was prepared for college by G. A. Wentworth. He left College in March, 1868. Badger died September 19, 1907.

*JOSEPH BARRETT died August 25, 1867. A sketch of Barrett's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

*GEORGE GILMAN CHAPIN died April 4, 1873. A sketch of Chapin's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

ELLWOOD HARVEY DARLINGTON, son of Thomas Brinton and Evalina (Harvey) Darlington, was born in East Bradford, Pa., August 15, 1844. He was prepared for college at Phillips Exeter Academy, and was admitted to the Sophomore Class September 13, 1867. He left college at the end of the first term, January, 1868.

*ELBRIDGE MINER EATON died in 1895. A sketch of Eaton's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

WILLIS FARRINGTON, son of DeWitt Clinton and Martha Jane (Andros) Farrington, was born in Bradford, Vt., August 22, 1848. Prepared for college at the Vermont Episcopal Institute, Burlington, Vt. He left college at the end of the first term of the Junior year on account of illness. After leaving college learned manufacturing at the United States Bunting Company, Lowell, Mass., and after a few years became superintendent of the same company. Member of Lowell City Council in 1876. April 22, 1874, married Anna Sweetser of Lowell, Mass. The following named children were born: Elizabeth, March 19, 1876; Derby, October 9, 1878; Theodore S., July 30, 1884; Pauline, July 4, 1888. July 1, 1905, Theodore S. Farrington died.

*BENJAMIN HODGES died January 12, 1897. A sketch of Hodges' life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

FRANCIS MASON LEARNED, son of Abijah and Harriet Lavenia (Skinner) Learned, was born in Boston, Mass., June 8, 1845. He was prepared for college by Albert T. Sinclair, and was admitted Freshman to the Class of 1869, September 17, 1865. He afterward joined the Class of 1870. He left college in October, 1867.

JAMES McMANUS, son of Bernard and Margaret (Murphy) McManus, was born in Tempo, Ireland, August 20, 1847. He was prepared for college by Homer Rogers, and was admitted to the Freshman Class September 14, 1866. He left college in January, 1867 (or at end of first term). He afterwards joined the Class of 1871, with which he was graduated.

GARDINER FELCH McCANDLESS, son of David and Elizabeth Griswold (Felch) McCandless, of Pittsburg, Pa., was born in Pittsburg, Pa., February 23, 1847. He was prepared for college at Phillips Exeter Academy. He left college in January, 1868. At present living in Germany at 7 Werder Strasse, Baden-Baden.

JOHN ROBERT McLEAN, son of Washington and Mary Louis (Darneal) McLean, was born in Cincinnati, O., September 29, 1849. He was prepared for college by D. G. Haskins. He left college November, 1866. His profession is that of a journalist in Cincinnati, O. He was married to Emily Beal, daughter of General Beal, and has one son, Edward B. McLean. Address, Washington, D. C.

*JOSEPH PARKER MASON died March 2, 1899. A sketch of Mason's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

HARRY FRANK NEWHALL, son of Harrison and Caroline (Goodrich) Newhall, was born in Chicago January 21, 1849. Fitted for college at Waltham New Church School, and in New York City. Left college at end of Freshman year. Entered on business career in Chicago in 1868, and after some changes went in January, 1871, to Philadelphia, to enter the employ of the banking firm of Jay Cooke & Co. On the failure of this firm in 1873, he engaged in the stock-brokerage business in Philadelphia on his own account. In 1874 married Elizabeth Barrett, daughter of the Rev. B. F. Barrett of Philadelphia, a well-known Swedenborgian minister. In 1895 went West and became secretary of the Home Savings and Loan Association of Minneapolis, from which company he resigned in 1901, when he organized the Finance Company of Minnesota, of which he is president. Is secretary of the Minneapolis Real Estate Board, and president of the Swedenborgian Publishing Association. Is the father of one daughter and five sons, of whom all are living except the daughter. Address, The Finance Company of Minnesota, 633 Andrus Building, Minneapolis, Minn.

*WILLIAM FISHER PACKER died in 1872. A sketch of Packer's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

*CHRISTOPHER A. THOMPSON died August 19, 1867. A sketch of Thompson's life was printed in the Class Report for 1905.

EDWARD DAVIS WASHBURN, son of Joseph and Martha Ann (Ingersoll) Washburn, was born in Savannah, Ga., January 13, 1848. He was prepared for college by Prentiss Cummings, and was admitted to the Class of '69 as a Sophomore, July 17, 1866. On September 11, 1868, he was admitted to the Class of 1870 as a Junior. He left college in April, 1869, on account of sickness.

JUDSON BOARDMAN WILDS entered the Class of 1871 in the Sophomore year.

DEATHS

Adams, George Huntington.....April 8, 1900
Ames, Angier.....April 11, 1901
Andrews, Henry Chandler.....Aug. 20, 1897
Brown, Samuel Emmons.....Aug. 5, 1877
Chamberlin, William Wigglesworth.....Feb. 6, 1910
Chapin, Frederick Wilcox.....Dec. 15, 1910
Crosby, William Sage .....April 6, 1875
Cushing, Louis Thomas.....April 7, 1904
Davis, Frank Dupont.....June, 1879
Dexter, S. Newton.....Feb. 21, 1899
Evans, Andrew Otis.....Sept., 1879
Fitz, Andrew.....Dec. 6, 1908
Francis, Laurens Norris.....March 3, 1910
Galloway, James Buchanan.....March 28, 1904
Godon, Frederic William.....Sept. 22, 1876
Greene, Samuel Fay.....Oct. 16, 1877
Healy, Joseph.....April 18, 1880
Hinckley, Thomas Leslie.....Nov. 1, 1875
Horton, Henry Kenney.....Dec. 15, 1877
Huntington, Arthur Lord.....Oct. 19, 1902
Jordan, James Clark.....Aug. 7, 1910
Loring, Fred Wadsworth.....Nov. 5, 1871
Low, Ethelbert Mills.....July 29, 1881
Lowell, Perceval.....Dec. 9, 1887
McCall, Harry Wilcocks.....June 18, 1894
Merrick, William.....Jan. 17, 1887
Mitchell, Charles Lucius.....June 21, 1898
Perkins, James Handasyd.....Dec. 2, 1889
Rich, James Rogers.....July 17, 1910
Rodman, Alfred.....July 4, 1910
Sargent, Joseph.....March 11, 1910
Sargent, Lucius Manlius.....Nov. 14, 1893
Sherman, Barker Baker.....May 2, 1904
Soule, Richard Herman.....Dec. 13, 1908
Spalding, Charles Parker.....March 25, 1895
Swaim, Roger Williams.....April 1, 1872
Thayer, Stephen Van Rensselaer.....Oct. 10, 1871

WALCOTT, CHARLES HOSMER.....April 25, 1901
WESTON, MELVILLE MOORE.....Dec. 25, 1901
WINSOR, WALTER THAXTER.....Jan. 29, 1905
WOLCOTT, ROGER.....Dec. 21, 1900
WOODARD, CHARLES FULLER.....June 17, 1907
WORCESTER, FRANCIS JESSE.....July 29, 1910

TEMPORARY MEMBERS

BADGER, GEORGE ASHTON.....Sept. 19, 1907
BARRETT, JOSEPH.....Aug. 25, 1867
CHAPIN, GEORGE GILMAN.....April 4, 1873
EATON, ELBRIDGE MINER.....1895
HODGES, BENJAMIN.....Jan. 12, 1897
MASON, JOSEPH PARKER.....March 2, 1889
PACKER, WILLIAM FISHER.....1872
THOMPSON, CHRISTOPHER A.....Aug. 19, 1867

ADDRESSES

Adams, Brooks, 84 State Street, Boston, Mass.
Adams, Walter, Framingham, Mass.
Alexander, William P., 346 Broadway, New York.
Buckminster, William B., Room 919, Oliver Building, 141 Milk Street, Boston, Mass.
Bunton, George W., 63 Washington Avenue, North Cambridge, Mass.
Burnham, Arthur, Room 84, 89 State Street, Boston, Mass.
Chapman, Nelson C., Chemical Building, St. Louis, Mo.
Clapp, Henry L., 135 Porter Street, Melrose, Mass.
Coes, Zorester B., 64 Harvey Street, Germantown, Pa.
Cole, John H., 35 Wall Street, New York.
Curtis, Laurence, 197 Marlborough Street, Boston, Mass.
Curtis, Louis, care Brown Bros. & Co., 60 State Street, Boston, Mass.
Curtis, Rest F., 25 Kinross Road, Boulevard Station, Boston, Mass.
Cutler, Arthur H., 20 East 50th Street, New York.
Deane, Walter, 29 Brewster Street, Cambridge, Mass.
Dixon, A. J. Dallas, 221 South 5th Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Dixwell, John, M. D., 52 West Cedar Street, Boston, Mass.
Dodge, William W., Room 706, 53 State Street, Boston, Mass.
Drew, Charles A., Old South Building, Boston, Mass.
Dudley, Edward, 33 North Second Street, Camden, N. J.
Dwight, John F., 24 Algonquin Street, Dorchester, Mass.
Emott, Charles C., Headley Road, Morristown, N. J.
Fernald, B. Marvin, 28 State Street, Boston, Mass.
Fisher, George Harrison, 308 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Frothingham, Theodore, Lafayette Building, Philadelphia, Pa.
Fuller, Frederick T., South Walpole, Mass.
Gannett, Thomas B., Channing Place, Cambridge, Mass.
Greener, Richard T., 5237 Ellis Avenue, Chicago, Ill.
Groesbeck, Herman J., M. D., Cincinnati, Ohio.
Hale, William G., 5757 Lexington Ave., Chicago, Ill.
Hill, John E., 46 Lincoln Street, Boston, Mass.
Hoar, Charles E., Simi, Ventura Co., Cal.
Holmes, Artemas H., 66 Broadway, New York City.
Holway, Rev. Raymond F., Cambridge, Mass.
Hosea, William G., Wiggins Block, 5th and Vine streets, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Huntress, Leonard, M. D., Lowell, Mass.
Kettell, Charles W., Lexington, Mass.
Ladd. Babson S., 10 Tremont Street, Boston, Mass.
Lawrence, Amory A., Lawrence & Co., 89 Franklin Street, Boston, Mass.
Lincoln, Waldo, Worcester, Mass.
Littlefield, George S., Old South Building, Boston, Mass.
Lunt, Horace G., Colorado Springs, Colo.
McMichael, Charles B., 2110 Pine Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Mann, Benjamin P., 1918 Sunderland Place, Washington, D. C.
Monroe, Charles, California Club, Los Angeles, Cal.
Morison, Ernest N., E. N. Morison & Co., South and German streets, Baltimore, Md.
Morse, Godfrey, 53 State Street, Boston, Mass.
Norcross, Otis, 50 Congress Street, Boston, Mass.
Nourse, Franklin, Lowell, Mass.
Parkman, Henry, 36 Temple Place, Boston, Mass.
Parrish, Samuel L., 25 Broad Street, New York.
Parsons, Theophilus, 53 State Street, Boston, Mass.
Pearson, George, Pittsburg, Pa.
Peele, Willard S., Beverly, Mass.
Pendleton, Frank K., 7 East 86th Street, New York.
Perrin, Rev. Willard T., 37 Beechcroft Road, Newton, Mass.
Rawson, Edward J., care J. Rawson's Sons, Cincinnati, Ohio.
Robinson, Frank W., Wm. A. French & Co., 8th St. and First Avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.
Robinson, Otis G., care Jordan, Marsh Co., Boston, Mass.
Rotch, Thomas M., M. D., 197 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, Mass.
Sanger, John W., 21 Ridge Street, Orange, N. J.
Scudder, Winthrop S., 4 Willard Street, Cambridge, Mass.
Seavey, Oscar F., Auburn, Placer County, Cal.
Sheldon, Chauncey C., M. D., 73 North Common Street, Lynn, Mass.
Shepard, Walter, 79 Bloomfield Street, Dorchester, Mass.
Smith, S. Sidney, 59 Wall Street, New York City.
Smith, W. Bugbee, 1621 Mt. Vernon Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Soley, James Russell, 35 Wall Street, New York.
Spackman, William M., 820 Madison Avenue, New York.
Spaulding Henry K., Tewksbury, Mass.
Stone, Richard H., 381 Main Street, Cincinnati, O.
Swan, Charles H., Old South Building, Boston, Mass.
Taft, Stephen S., 235 and 236 Court Square Theatre Building, Springfield, Mass.

Ticknor, Thomas B., 18 Highland Street, Cambridge, Mass.
Tuckerman, Alfred, 342 West 57th Street, New York City.
Vaughan, William W., Rooms 1001–1003, 53 State Street, Boston, Mass.
Viaux, Frederic H., Room 521, 53 State Street, Boston, Mass.
Wadsworth, William Austin, Geneseo, Livingston County, N. Y.
Wait, Prof. Lucien A., Cornell University Campus, Ithaca, N. Y.
Watson, Benjamin M., Bussey Institute, Jamaica Plain, Mass.
Wells, Henry, Riegelsville, Pa.
Wharton, William F., 50 State Street, Boston, Mass.
White, John S., 34 Bloomsbury Square, London, England.
Wilby, Charles B., 514 Main Street, Cincinnati, O.
Willis, Grinnell, 44–46 Leonard Street, New York.
Wyatt, J. B. Noel, Club Road, Roland Park, Baltimore, Md.

TEMPORARY MEMBERS

Darlington, Ellwood H.
Farrington, Willis, 234 Nesmith Street, Lowell, Mass.
Learned, Francis M., 510 Columbus Avenue, Boston.
McManus, James. (Class of 1871.)
McCandless, Gardner F., 7 Werder Strasse, Baden-Baden, Germany.
McLean, John R., Washington, D. C.
Newhall, Harry F., 633 Andrus Building, Minneapolis, Minn.
Washburn, Edward D.
Wilds, Judson, B. (Class of 1871.)